NEW ENGLAND QUAKE.

Shocks in St. Johns (N. B.) and Considerable Through Maine and Massachusetts.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

BOSTON, March 21.—An earthquake shock this morning caused a tremor throughout the eastern part of New England. Beginning at St. Johns, N. B., the vibration traversed the coast, causing slight damage in Portland, Augusta, Bangor and Rockland. The shock was felt plainly at Taunton, in this State. In Manchester, N. H., and Providence, state that the vibrations were felt distinctly in those cities. Observers at the Harvard University Astronomical Observatory in Cambridge felt the shocks.

At Augusta, Me., lamp chimneys were shaken down and crockery was smashed. The vibrations lasted several seconds, and in nearly every instance occurred about four minutes after 1 o'clock.

NOT AFRAID OF PRISON.

Angus M. Cannon Wrote to His Wives to Teach His Children Obedience to Mormon's God.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SALT LAKE CITY, March 20.—President Angus M. Cannon of the Salt Lake Stake of Zion, referring in the Mormon Tabernacle today to his confinement in the State prison for polygamous cohabitation, some years ago, described himself as being "imprisoned for the testimony of Jesus." He said:

"When I was out there on the hill (at the penitentiary for polygamous cohabitation,) imprisoned for the testimony of Jesus and testifying to the teachings of God, I wrote to the mothers of my children to teach them obedience to the will of God. I wrote them: 'Men cannot build walls so high or prisons so deep as to shut out the spirit of God.'"

BUBONIC PLAGUE DEATHS.

JOHANNESBURG, March 20.—An outbreak of the bubonic plague has occurred in the Indian coolie section. Thirty deaths have occurred since Thursday. It was at first supposed the outbreak was one of pneumonia, but the nature of the disease now is officially admitted, and the section has been cordoned. A plague camp at Reitfontein has been opened. It is rumored that Dr. Marias, who was attending patients, died Friday.

DUBLIN, March 20.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The German bark Mona collided with the English bark Lady Cairns off Dublin Bay this morning. The Lady Cairns sank in a few minutes. Her crew of twenty-two was drowned. The Mona, which was much damaged, was assisted into Dublin Harbor.

JAPS' NEW BOTTLING PROCESS.

Fifteen Big Steamships Are Being Loaded at Sasebo to be Sent to Port Arthur and There Sunk.

Forty Thousand Russians Drawn Up on the Cheng Cheng Ready to Meet a Similar Number of Japanese. Fierceness of Naval Conflicts.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, March 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Japan is about to make a sensational attempt to bottle up Port Arthur once and for all. Fifteen big steamships are being prepared at Sasebo for this new effort. They are being loaded with stone, and are to be linked together with chains and wire cables. They are to steam toward Port Arthur, in line, and it is immaterial whether they are sunk by Russian guns or are blown up by their crews.

CAPTURED COSSACK PATROL.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TOKIO, March 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] There is a rumor here that a column of Gen. Kuroki's force has captured an entire Cossack patrol in the mountains at the head of the Yalu River. The report comes from Port Lazareff, and the army officers believe there is good foundation for it, as Kuroki's men took three different roads through the Koni Mountains and are known to be on both sides of the Yalu in Northeastern Manchuria.

PREPARING FOR GREAT BATTLE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, March 20.—[Exclusive dispatch.] The Standard's St. Petersburg cable says a Russian force of 40,000 men is stated to be drawn up on the Cheng Cheng, to the north of Anju, where a similar number of Japanese are believed to be posted. Their movements are being closely watched by large bodies of Cossacks. The first action is expected to take place in this neighborhood, where it is thought the superiority of Russian cavalry will insure victory.

All is quiet at Vladivostok, according to reports received today, but disquieting stories continue to be current regarding Port Arthur. Naval authorities here are much perturbed by the failure to solve the difficulty of forwarding coal to the two Eastern ports where the supply is diminishing and the warships are forced to economize. There is a rumor that a quantity of ammunition at Vladivostok has been found unusable, as it does not fit the guns.

Gen. Kouropatkin expects to have 600,000 men in the Far East by next August. He will arrive at Harbin about Friday next, and after staying there a few days will probably proceed to Mukden. He is not likely to go farther south just yet.

STRAIN AT PORT ARTHUR.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SHANGHAI, March 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] News has been received from Port Arthur that several officers of the garrison, under the strain caused by the bombardment and by reverses, have committed suicide. Fifty soldiers have been shot for attempted desertion in the past fortnight. An elaborate system of barbed-wire barricades has been constructed around the land approaches to the town, where dynamite mines have been laid. Guns from the disabled battleships have been mounted behind new earthworks.

The Russians are not making elaborate preparations to hold Newchwang. Their plan is to withdraw and burn the town if the Japanese attack. The Russians will make their first firm stand at Liao Yang.

DIFFICULTIES IN MOBILIZING.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TOKIO, March 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Spies in Manchuria have sent important information to the military authorities which shows the Russians are meeting enormous difficulties in mobilizing their armies. In many places the Manchurian railway is blocked by immense snowdrifts; in other places the rails have sunk. The Russians have already suffered enormous losses in men, chiefly because of lack of warm clothing and breakdowns in the commissariat department.

ADMIRAL WIRENIUS PUTS FORTH.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CANA (Island of Crete) March 20.—The Russian battleship Ossliabya, with Admiral Wirenius on board, sailed at 11:30 o'clock this morning for an unknown destination. The torpedo-boats followed the battleship. The Russian armored cruiser Dmitri Donskoi arrived here this afternoon.

NO DESIGNS ON VLADIVOSTOK.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. PETERSBURG, March 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] According to trustworthy intelligence from the theater of war, reports of Japanese landings on the east coast of Korea are inventions, and no designs on Vladivostok are believed to be harbored by Marshal Nodzu, to whose present army of 65,000 men 42,000 will probably be added by the middle of this month.

RUSSIAN MILITARY PLANS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

VLADIVOSTOK, March 20.—The Russian military plans are progressing satisfactorily here along the main coast and at Saghalien Island. Many inhabitants continue to migrate to Khabarovsk and Nikolsk, and some women and children are returning to Russia.

The first detachment of the Red Cross from Russia has arrived and has been distributed among the field hospitals. More than a hundred nurses have been sent from here to Manchuria and Korea. The delivery of Russian mails to the frontier and to ports is working fairly well, and the telegraph works excellently. The letters reach Vladivostok twenty-two days after leaving St. Petersburg.

FOUR SAILORS MIRACULOUSLY ESCAPE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, March 20.—Vice-Admiral Makaroff has reported the miraculous escape of four sailors from the torpedo-boat destroyer Stereguschtchi, which foundered during the naval battle off Port Arthur, March 9. The men escaped by swimming when the boat sank and succeeded in keeping afloat until they were picked up.

IN SPECIAL SESSION.

Japanese Parliament Meets to Provide Money Needed to Wage War Against Russia—Reply to Throne is Prepared.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

TOKIO, Sunday, March 20.—[By Asiatic Cable.] With stately ceremony, the special session of Parliament convened to provide the money needed to wage the war against Russia, was opened this morning. The Emperor, clad in the uniform of a generalissimo, rode in the great state coach from the palace to the Parliament House, and personally read his address to the peers and commoners. For the first time, the Crown Prince attended the ceremony. He followed his father to an improvised throne in the Peers' Hall, and stood close by his right side, while the Emperor read his appeal to his subjects.

The Emperor left the palace at 10:30 o'clock, accompanied by a group of Imperial Princes, aides and members of the Imperial household. His escort consisted of two troops of lancers, one preceding the other. Following, came the coaches carrying the Emperor, Princes and staff. The brilliant uniforms, splendid coaches and pennants of red and white silk, carried by each Lancer, made the imperial procession an attractive picture. Lines of police and gendarmes kept the streets clear and walled back the populace, which received its ruler in absolute silence—the highest mark of respect among the Japanese.

Long before the Emperor reached the Peers' chamber the members were in their places. The Peers, all uniformed, occupied the right side of the chamber, and the Commoners, all in evening dress, filled the left. The seats, which occupy rising tiers, had been removed, and the members stood in semi-circles with the presidents and vice-presidents of each house in advance of each main group.

The members of the Cabinet, headed by Prince Katsura, occupied a position on the right platform close to the throne. The diplomatic gallery was filled, nearly every legation and staff being present. Sir Claude MacDonald, the British Minister, Gen. Hamilton and Col. Hume represented Great Britain.

Minister Griscom, Col. Wood, Commander Marsh and Secretaries Ferguson and Laughlin of the United States legation were also officially present. The other galleries were filled with Japanese civil officials, and military and naval officers. No women were present.

When the Emperor entered, the members of Parliament bowed low. The Emperor, advancing to the front of the platform, bowed to them and immediately ascended the throne. Premier Katsura advanced to the throne and handed the address to the Emperor. The latter read it in a voice low, but firm, which carried to every corner of the chamber.

The members remained with bowed heads until the reading was concluded. The president of the House of Peers then ascended the platform, advanced to the throne and received the address from the Emperor. The Emperor then stepped to the front of the platform, bowed, left the chamber, and returned to the palace. In view of the extraordinary reply to the address from the throne passed at the last session in December, wherein the House of Representatives condemned the policy of the Cabinet, which was declared to be incompatible with the progress of the empire and to be tempersing, the House of Representatives today appointed a committee to prepare a response. After the joint session the committee met, and prepared the following:

"We, Your Majesty's humble servants of the House of Representatives, respectfully express our gratitude for Your Majesty's gracious action in opening the Imperial Diet and for the words addressed to us by Your Majesty. This empire has invariably endeavored to maintain the peace of the Far East, but Russia, which lacks the sincerity to respect the peace, has violated its treaty with China and its repeated declarations to the powers.

"We are extremely impressed with the fact that Your Majesty has declared war. The soldiers' arms at the front are repeatedly obtaining victories. This is solely due to Your Majesty's imperial influence.

"It shall be our constant endeavor to bring to the discharge of our legislative functions the utmost care and circumspection, so that Your Majesty's august instructions may be obeyed and the important trust imposed in us by the nation may be compiled with.

"With profound respect and humility, the president of the House of Representatives, Masahisa Matsuda, presents this."

The Peers will meet tomorrow to prepare a response to the speech from the throne.

MORE WAR RULES BROKEN.
PROTEST ARRIVES AT PARIS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PARIS, March 20.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The Russian Embassy has received from St. Petersburg and has handed to Foreign Minister Delcasse for transmission to the French Minister at Tokio, who is entrusted with the protection of Russian interests in Japan, a protest against an alleged infraction of the rules of war. It appears that during the attack on Port Arthur, March 10, the Japanese fired over fifty projectiles at the quarantine station on the island of San Shan Tao, resulting in the injury of numerous persons.

Count Lamsdorff, the Russian Foreign Minister, considers this to be a violation of the laws of war, notably of the twenty-fifth clause of The Hague convention, to which Japan was a signatory. The Minister therefore asks France to call Japan's attention to the matter, apart from the general protests contained in the recent Russian note to the powers.

The French government has already transmitted to Tokio Russia's protests against the seizure of Russian whaling vessels wintering at Nagasaki before the expiration of the date fixed for the departure of Russian vessels from Japanese ports. Japan replies that the prize court, having passed upon the question, it was no longer a diplomatic one, but that the owners had a right to appeal to a superior court. Russia refuses to take this view of the matter, and asks France to renew the protest.

FIERCE NAVAL CONTEST.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, March 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Times' correspondent with the Japanese fleet cables:

"Since Admiral Makaroff's arrival at Port Arthur, the defensive tactics of the Russians have become more active, and their destroyers more alert and enterprising. At 4 a.m. on the 10th inst., the first division of the Japanese destroyer flotilla, under command of Capt. Asia, while reconnoitering southwest of Liao Thie Shan Peninsula, attacked six Russian destroyers. A fierce engagement ensued, lasting fifty minutes. Early in the fight two Russian destroyers were very severely damaged. They drew off and made for Port Arthur. The others, still fighting, retreated until under the protection of the guns of the forts, and they also reached the harbor.

"The contest was so fierce at times that the opposing vessels were within a few yards of each other. So close were two of them that the Russian bluejackets threw a charge of explosives on the bridge of the Japanese destroyer. Fortunately, it did not detonate. The charge is kept as a memento.

"All of the vessels were more or less damaged. A Japanese destroyer received a shell in one of the stoke holes which burst the steampipe, a stoker and petty officer being scalded to death. The Russian casualties are not known, but they must have been considerable. The Japanese losses were six killed and eight wounded.

"That the Russians were defeated in spite of their superior numbers was due to the superior shooting of the Japanese, combined with the fact that most of the Russian destroyers were armed with 3-pounders while the Japanese were armed with 6-pounders. The 3-pounders, while perforating the hull, does less damage to the vessel and crew than a 6-pounder.

FIERCE FIGHT.

"Three hours later, a third division of Japanese destroyers under Capt. Tsuchiya sighted two Russian destroyers fifteen miles south of Port Arthur, and immediately gave chase and came up with the Russians, and an even fiercer fight took place.

"The Russians fought with desperation and the Japanese with confidence born of past victories and superior numbers. One Russian commander was killed early in the fight and the lieutenant took command, only to fall, shot in both legs. The command devolved on a sub-lieutenant, who also was killed after taking the wheel himself when the coxswain fell. This vessel was captured by the Japanese, while the other escaped.

"One Japanese destroyer was hit on the waterline, and two compartments were flooded. As the quick-firing ammunition was wet, the vessel was unable to participate further in the action. Her officers had a narrow escape. A lieutenant, a sub-lieutenant and a signalman were on the bridge when a shot from a 12-pounder struck her 12-pounder platform just in front of them. One man was killed. The shell exploded and the bridge was swept with splinters. The binnacle and engine-room telegraph were injured. The same vessel received a 3-pounder projectile through her hull, but no material damage was done. The davits were shot away and other marks of shot and splinter damage were seen on the funnels and deck fittings."

VLADIVOSTOK UNAFFECTED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

YINKOW, March 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Two Americans who arrived at Newchwang, Saturday, from Vladivostok, say that half of the population at Vladivostok did not know of the recent bombardment there until the following day. No damage was done, but all the women and children left. The Americans could see a few soldiers near Newchwang, but witnessed no preparation to defend the railway line. Forty miles north of Newchwang, one railway bridge was defended by one gun. South of that point nothing had been done. Harbin and Mukden are alive with the troops who are concentrating there.

PORT ARTHUR'S RATIONS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, March 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Telegraph's Nagasaki cable says one of the Russians who was captured March 10 states there is a scarcity of food at Port Arthur. He asserts the supplies cannot support the garrison for more than a month, and that all have been put on short rations. Repairing materials were scarce. Wood was being used to block up the shot holes in the vessels. All the wounded were doing well.

CONSTRUCTING RAILWAY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

YINKOW, March 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Russians are buying all the wood in Newchwang and taking it toward the river mouth and are at work on the construction of a railway to convey guns from the railway station to the fort.

CAPTURE BY COSSACKS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

KOBE, March 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Cossacks have captured a Japanese major, five other officers and two civilians near Wiju. All prisoners were sent to Irkutsk, Siberia.

The Russians near the Yalu River have informed the authorities that anyone caught supplying provisions to the Japanese will be considered an enemy to Russia and shot.

INDIANA EMPLOYERS FORM ORGANIZATION.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

INDIANAPOLIS (Ind.) March 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Employers and Business Men's Association of New Albany has been incorporated for these purposes:

"It is the purpose of the association to promote stability of business, employment of labor, whether organized or unorganized, to discourage strikes or lockouts, and to oppose boycotts and kindred movements. Also to protect the members of the community and all persons who desire to work from unlawful interferences, such as strikes, lockouts, boycotts or similar movements; to protect the members' inalienable right to manage their own affairs without domination or coercion by any organized movement, and to make it possible for any person to obtain employment without being obliged to join a labor organization."

LOCOMOTIVE ENGINEERS.

ASSOCIATION OF CHAIRMEN.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CHICAGO, March 20.—A General Chairmen's Association was formed here today at a meeting of the chairmen of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers of all the systems of the country. M. D. Cadle of the Missouri Pacific system was made chairman and A. M. Rodgers of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad was named as secretary.

The purpose of the organization, it is said, is to bring about uniform conditions on all the railroad systems insofar as the engineers are affected, and to enable the brotherhood to meet the General Managers' Association with a corresponding body of men who will be constantly in touch with the engineers in all parts of the country.

ORGANIZING WOMEN.

UNION STRIKES APPROVED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

BOSTON, March 25.—With the object of promoting women's trades unions in the United States, the Executive Board of the Women's National Trade Union League at its annual meeting here today voted to send a general organizer and secretary throughout the country who will act as a business agent, organizing trades unions among women, instituting lockouts and strikes.

Among the members of the board present were Miss Jane Addams of the Hull House, Chicago, president; Mrs. Gertrude Barnum, State Secretary of the Woman's Trade Unions of Illinois and Miss Lillian B. Wald, head worker of the college settlement of New York.

UNIONS AND PREACHERS.

"PARASITES" OR "BROTHERS."

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, March 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Preachers are to be admitted to the Chicago Federation of Labor as fraternal delegates. This was decided today after a prolonged and violent discussion, during which the clergy were denounced as "parasites of society."

The Federation also refused to reconsider its action of two weeks ago, placing Mayor Harrison on the "unfair" list. President Gubbins of the Bricklayers' Union brought up the matter, declaring the boycott had hurt the unions and not inconvenienced the Mayor.

HATSHEPSU'S TOMB.

Diggers Discover in the Heart of a Mountain Two Sarcophagi With Egyptian Hieroglyphics.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, March 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Times has a description of the discovery, "thanks to the lavish expenditure and American tenacity of Theodore M. Davis," of an important tomb in the neighborhood of that of King Thotmes IV of the eighteenth dynasty, which was found in 1903 at Thebes.

Davis has discovered the tomb of the famous Queen Hatshepsu, builder of the beautiful temple of Del Elbahari. It consists for the most part of corridors sloping downward into the heart of a limestone mountain. After reaching three chambers, in spite of enormous difficulties, the burial chamber was found. Here are two sarcophagi of hard sandstone, polished like copper, covered with beautifully-formed hieroglyphics, which say that one contained the mummy of Hatshepsu and her father, Thotmes I.

The lids of the sarcophagi lie on the floor. The sarcophagi are empty. Hatshepsu's mummy may be found in one of the unexplored side passages of the tombs, where perhaps it was deposited for the sake of safety in time of danger. The chamber is from forty to fifty feet long. There are several side chambers, which are still filled with fallen rock and rubbish, but it can be seen that they, as well as the chamber itself, are panelled with painted blocks of fine limestone.

OBITUARY.

Hon. Charles W. Thompson.

WASHINGTON, March 20.—Representative Charles W. Thompson of the Fifth Alabama District died in this city this afternoon of pneumonia. Mr. Thompson had been sick just one week, having been attacked first last Sunday night. Toward the end he suffered intensely. The body will be taken to Tuskegee, Ala., for burial.

Charles L. Counselman.

CHICAGO, March 20.—Charles L. Counselman, head of the commission house of Counselman & Co. of Chicago, died today at Hot Springs, Va., of Bright's disease. Four months ago, Counselman went to California in search of health, and when he left for Virginia, two weeks ago, it was believed he had completely recovered. Counselman, who was 55 years of age, was one of the most prominent brokers in Chicago.

PLATT THE LEADER OF NEW YORKERS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, March 20.—At a conference held tonight by Senator Platt, Gov. Odell, the chairman of the Republican State Committee and many other prominent Republicans, and after an exchange of views and statements by Senator Platt and Gov. Odell, it was unanimously agreed that Senator Platt should remain, as he has been in the past, the active leader of the party. It was further agreed that in contests for leaderships in the party there should be no interference in favor or against anyone, either by Senator Platt or Gov. Odell.

The result of the conference was generally interpreted as being equivalent to a complete settlement of all points at issue between Gov. Odell and Senator Platt, the basis of the compact being the acceptance by the Governor of the offer of the chairmanship of the State Committee. This is said to have been the point for which the Governor was contending, and in return for the concession he willingly conceded allegiance to Senator Platt as the recognized leader of the Republican organization of the State.

Senator Platt, after the conference, said:

"The atmosphere has been cleared absolutely as a result of the plain talk we had today. Republicans in New York State had good cause for alarm up to noon today. It looked as if the party might go to the devil, but all that has been avoided. I do not think anything could have brought together the large numbers of leaders from all parts of the State which met with me today, and later met the Governor, aside from myself and one or two others who have the success of the party above all personal considerations. I shall return to Washington tomorrow, and about Wednesday I intend to go to Aiken, S. C., for a rest."

Gov. Odell said: "I have agreed to accept the chairmanship of the Republican State Committee and will be found working side by side with Senator Platt for party success."

"Are we to look to you as our leader?" inquired a friend.

"No, you are to look to Senator Platt," he replied.

CONFERENCE OF FORTY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, March 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] On terms dictated at a conference of forty of the most powerful Republicans, Senator Platt and Gov. Odell have established peace. The settlement was at last reached on these conditions: Senator Platt is to be recognized as State leader; Gov. Odell is to be elected chairman of the State Committee. Neither is to interfere with local contests, or attempt to exert control over the State Committee.

Williams for Hearst.

BOSTON, March 20.—In a signed statement sent to the Press tonight, former Congressman George Fred Williams announces his indorsement of W. R. Hearst's candidacy for the Democratic Presidential nomination.

Williams adds that he intends to wage a contest in this State in behalf of the candidate.

LOVE'S RACE FOR PLACE.

PIKE COUNTY POET ASPIRES.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS (Mo.) March 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Robertus Love, poet, humorist and magazine editor, widely known as the author of "Jist Plain Jim," a Pike county poem, may be the Democratic opponent of Richard Barthoat in the Tenth St. Louis Congress District race. Love has announced his willingness to make the race, and is receiving strong support. Poems of humor and pathos, many of them in Pike county dialect, have secured for Mr. Love a reputation as the "Pike County Poet."

THE SOUTH AND PRESIDENCY.

CLARK HOWELL'S NEW SLOGAN.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ATLANTA (Ga.) March 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Clark Howell, national Democratic committeeman, in an interview today declared that the political embargo on Southern Presidential candidates must end after the present election. He suggested that Senator Bailey of Texas be a candidate in 1908.

YOUNG MORMONS REVOLT.

FIGHT AGAINST POLYGAMY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SALT LAKE (Utah) March 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Young Mormons throughout Utah have united in a movement having for its object the enforcement of the pledges against polygamy given to the government when Utah became a State. These young Mormons are particularly vehement in their assertion that the law must be obeyed by the members of the Mormon hierarchy, as well as by other citizens. As a result of this movement, which already numbers 500 young men in its ranks, the practice of living by the high officials of the Mormon Church must be abandoned, or else the young Mormons will leave the church.

Such is the ultimatum that is to be given the Mormon hierarchy at the general conference of the church to be held here next month. When Joseph F. Smith, president of the church, openly declared before the Senate Committee on Privileges and Elections, in the Smoot case at Washington, that he was living with his five wives in defiance of the law, and above all, that he purposed continuing to do so, the younger element in the Mormon Church revolted.

Mrs. Elizabeth Kompe, a German emigrant, who recently arrived in this city, has set forth in an affidavit that she was induced by Mormon elders to leave her husband and come to Utah. She also avers that she was offered polygamous marriage by two Mormon elders, Hottendorf and Huefner, after arriving in Salt Lake City. The woman has been ill at the Holy Cross Hospital for some time. She declares that those two Mormon elders told her she need not mind the fact she had a husband in Germany, as when she was baptized into the Mormon Church the baptismal water acted as a divorce. If she lives she will be a witness before the Smoot investigating committee.

RAILROADS CINCHING THE GOVERNMENT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, March 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Charges that the Postoffice Department is paying millions of dollars to the railroads for mail transportation service which it does not receive have opened up new possibilities of the postoffice scandal, and an investigation is hinted at.

Accusations are made by S. W. Green, a publisher of New York, in pamphlet form and have been sent to members of Congress. Green says the losses sustained by the government by overcharge on account of railroad transportation service would pay the deficit for the last two years and leave a surplus.

Green's special grievance is that the department weighed mails for a short period in order to form a basis of payment for four years, that this basis was made at a certain figure, and after that large amounts of second-class mail matter was ruled out, for which the department is still paying at rate of $55.40 a ton. He says that amount "quenched" in two years was 268,602 tons, which represents $14,880,550, which the department is still paying without any service being rendered by the railroads.

THE NEW PACIFIC'S STRATEGIC VALUE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, March 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Miller Maguire delivered a lecture at the Royal United Service Institution yesterday on the subject of "The New Pacific from a Strategic Point of View."

The lecturer showed the universal desire of various countries in the past and at present to obtain a footing in the Pacific. He described the advance of Russia, the United States and Great Britain in that direction. He said: "The capture by the United States of Cuba and the Philippines has created a new Atlantic and a new Pacific. The United States is the reservoir of mechanical and labor power of humanity. It knows the potentialities of the Chinese, and intends to control them."

Referring to the situation in the Far East, he said that at the beginning of the twentieth century, Great Britain and Japan bore the same relation in Eastern Asia as Great Britain bore to the French power at the beginning of the nineteenth century. He ventured to say that the Japanese would repeat in regard to the Korean Peninsula what Great Britain did in regard to the Iberian peninsula. He saw no reason why war between Russia and Japan should not last twenty-two years, as Great Britain's peninsular campaign had.

Lord Roberts, who presided, spoke briefly. He drew attention to the fact that the center of international gravity had now shifted to the Pacific, and it was mainly in this direction that the dominating factors will be found when any serious complications arise. He pointed out Russia's great work France's acquisition of Indo-China, Great Britain's possession of Hongkong and Wei Hai Wei, and Germany's possession of Kiao Chau, while Australia, from a waterless waste had been changed into a flourishing continent.

There had been similar extraordinary development in Eastern waters, from the Pacific, nine great railways connected with the Atlantic. They were an important strategic point, but would be surpassed when Panama was finished. After referring to the new Pacific cables, Lord Roberts closed by saying: "All these are very important questions for the strategist."

EARTHQUAKE AND CYCLONE.

Reign of Quinault Reserve Greatly Terrified.

Banks of Several Rivers are Thrown Upward.

Water Rising in the Rivers. University's Suit.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

OLYMPIA (Wash.) March 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Several Indians on the Quinault reservation have arrived at Hoquiam, bringing news of a general upheaval of earth and water in the extreme western part of the state, lying between the Olympic mountains and the coast. They say earthquake disturbances occurred last Sunday night, when the State was shaken by the most severe earthquake shocks of recent years. The disturbances greatly scared the Indians, and especially as because several weeks ago the Quinault reservation was visited by the only cyclone ever known in the State Washington.

The Indians say the beds of several lakes were thrown upward Wednesday night, resulting in the pouring of water out along the lowlands. Numbers of lakes were formed, some big ones. The lakes destroy the ranches of settlers who have taken homesteads in that region. Seismic disturbances the past few weeks, have created fear conditions. A very severe shock followed Wednesday's earthquake, making it possible that the reports overlooked from ordinary sources. Accurate details cannot be obtained until ranchers arrive from the west of Quinault reservation, some 50 miles north of Hoquiam.

FOUR PERSONS HURT.

AUTOMOBILE HITS STREET CAR.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SEATTLE (Wash.) March 20.—A man named Hillyard, a substitute, was struck by a Great Northern locomotive this morning, while he was crossing the railroad tracks in the eastern part of the city. The street car were seven passengers, four of whom were injured as follows:

MRS. JENKINS, Spokane, head and hurt internally.

MR. NICKE, Spokane, badly

MRS. BESS, residence unknown,

CLINTON, Pennsylvania, badly

The car was badly smashed. As for the accident is not yet known, the car was on the cross-town line, the locomotive was observed coming down the hill. Whether the car went ahead to see if the track was clear is not known.

SINGLE KILLED.

TRAIN RUN HIM DOWN.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SEATTLE (Wash.) March 20.—John Ellis, a highwayman and horse thief, whom the authorities at North Yakima a number of crimes, was killed by Yakima officers in a fight this evening. Gingle had been to a town in the eastern part of the city. The town was surrounded by officers. Officers Doak and Pugh broke in the door and commanded Gingle to surrender. The latter, who was lying in wait, opened fire, but missed. Officer Doak got three bullets in Gingle, killing him without speaking.

Other officers, who had arrested the thief to Spokane, were left in the cabin when the shooting began, hearing all avenues of escape. Gingle, who was in bed, had a revolver pointed to him, while at the door stood a Winchester rifle.

THE UNIVERSITY'S SUIT.

THE CONFIDENCE OF M'KOWEN.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Counsel for the University have begun suit to recover from the First National Bank of Ukiah $200,000 drawn by former Secretary McKowen, and lost by him on the race track. He is now serving a seven-year sentence in State prison for embezzlement from the university. The check which the bank paid McKowen, and which he indorsed to a bookmaker. It seemed that the bookmaker this sum, and other funds handy he indorsed the check, which was given to Hearst to pay certain bets. Had he presented the check, then cashing it, it would have been legal.

MAJOR SALTER'S END.

DEATH CAME TOO LATE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) March 20.—Major Salter, the well-known wool grower, died at Mercy Hospital, after ten days' illness with typhoid and abscess of the liver. An operation was performed, but the disease had made such progress for the operation useless.

At one time a prominent wool merchant of Boston Mass., 52 years old.

MASSACRES OF WHITES.

REPORTED FROM PHILIPPINES.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON (D. C.) March 20.—W. M. Cobbey, editor of the Manila Times, and of the Merchants' Directory of the Far East, arrived in the city and of the Manila Times, is a passenger on the Pacific Mail steamer arriving today. He has come to lay the facts before residents be-fore he will publish at the time a special edition of the Times, setting forth the advantages for white settlers in the great question of the scarcity of labor, the ability to work at any price.

Mr. McCulloch, head of the biggest printing and publishing firm in the islands, was also on his way to San Francisco to consult with regard to the supply of labor. His business has been practically suspended, owing to the impossibility of obtaining labor at reasonable rates.

HELD UP A SALOON.

THREE MEN ROB FIFTEEN.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

REDDING, March 20.—Three masked men, armed with a revolver, shotgun and rifle, respectively, held up a saloon at Kennett early this morning, securing $100. Fifteen men were in the place when the robbers entered. They were forced to line up, facing the wall. While two highwaymen kept the fifteen men covered with their weapons, the third went through the pockets of the victims and also robbed the money drawer of its contents.

When the masked men left they warned all present to remain in the saloon fifteen minutes, under penalty of death.

GROCERY-STORE EPISODE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 20.—A masked robber entered the grocery store of Robinson & Knox at Valencia and Twentieth streets last night, and, walking boldly to the cash register, tried to open it. One of the proprietors, A. B. Knox, and three clerks, were in the place at the time. Knox was figuring up his books, and when the noise at the register made him look up, the robber fired a shot at him, but the bullet went wide. After vainly trying to open the cash drawer, the man ran away.

STORMS AND HARDSHIP.

WILLIAM H. MACY'S LEAK.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 20.—The American ship William H. Macy, Capt. Groth, eighteen days from Ladysmith, B. C., came to port late this afternoon with a story of storms and hardship. The vessel left Ladysmith March 2, and experienced a succession of severe southeast gales soon after getting into the ocean. On March 9, in Lat. 42 deg. N., Long. 128 deg. W., the Macy ran into a heavy southeast gale that threw her on her beam ends and shifted the cargo of coal to starboard, causing the ship to leak and carrying away the rudder head. The leak was kept down by the pumps, but with difficulty, owing to the rough weather.

At the height of the storm the cabin was flooded, the wheelhouse gutted, the windows and doors stove in and the contents of the forward houses washed overboard. It was necessary during the trip down the coast to shift the cargo and get the vessel on an even keel, four days being consumed in this work. During the heaviest gales the second officer, Allen Mass, was washed overboard, but a boarding wave landed him on the Macy's deck a moment later.

RAIN STILL CONTINUES.

WATER RISING IN RIVERS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

STOCKTON, March 20.—The rain continues, and the waterways about Stockton are booming. Bouldin Island is reported safe this evening, but the men patrolling the levees expect to have a hard fight of it soon. Word from points to the eastward is to the effect that the water is rising in the Calaveras, Mokelumne and San Joaquin, though they are not as high as they have already been this season. The continued rain is a menace, however, and the keenest anxiety is felt.

PORTLAND WINDSTORM.

DAMAGE WAS CONSIDERABLE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PORTLAND (Or.) March 20.—The windstorm which occurred here yesterday did much more serious damage than was at first thought. About 600 feet of the fence around the Lewis and Clark Exposition grounds was blown down, and in some instances the boards were carried several hundred feet. The wind unroofed the grand stand in the baseball park, tore the porch from the clubhouse and razed part of the fence.

A house was blown down in South Portland, and a large warehouse, which had just reached completion on the east bank of the Willamette River, was demolished. Shade trees were uprooted in every direction. Telegraph and telephone communication has been partially restored, but it will be several days before the damage is entirely repaired.

M'BRIDE'S RAILROAD FIGHT.

HOT WASHINGTON CAMPAIGN.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TACOMA (Wash.) March 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Closely following the merger decision comes the announcement of Gov. McBride that he will continue to fight the Hill roads in this State by endeavoring to secure the election of a Legislature which will pass a law creating a State Railroad Commission.

Gov. McBride opened the State campaign last night at Walla Walla, making a vigorous speech along this line before an audience composed largely of farmers. He said he had been accused of waging an unjust war against the railroads, which he vigourously denied. He severely arraigned the lobby of the last Legislature, which he, said, resorted to bribery and other unfair means, to secure legislation favorable to the railroads. This, he said, was an outrage, and the people of the State were now in arms against the lobby and would carry the fight to the bitter end.

What the Govenor desires is the creation of a commission that will have the power to make a full and complete investigation of all abuses practiced by railroad companies and to make schedules that will compel the railroads to cease discriminating and give all sections of the State just its equable freight rates. He discussed at length the wholesale giving of passes to legislators and other public officials.

The Govenor is a canadate for renomination, and will make his campaign on the railroad commission issue. Roosevelt and McBride clubs are being formed in all the counties.

IN MARIN COUNTY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN RAFAEL, March 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The storm which has been in progress over Marin county several days did great damage in various sections. It has been raining several days, and the precipitation at San Rafael and vicinity during the last three days was nearly eleven inches. Today, a severe hailstorm was witnessed near Mill Valley, while tonight Mount Tamalpais is covered with several inches of snow. It has stopped raining, and the indications are that the storm is over.

The greatest damage has been done by creeks overflowing the banks, and inundating hundreds of acres of young fruit and vegetable farms. All over the county, thoroughfares are greatly harmed by washouts and sink holes. Both the California Northwestern and North Shore railroads were damaged by landslides, especially the North Shore, on its Cazadero branch.

The precipitation for San Rafael and vicinity to date is 41.42 inches against 36.13 for the entire season last year. Up to this date last season, the rainfall here was 31.76 inches.

RAIN AT SAN JOSE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN JOSE, March 20.—The rainstorm still continues in this valley. The precipitation today was .32. The ground is thoroughly soaked, and the streams are all running full of water.

FREIGHT TRAIN DITCHED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

MARYSVILLE, March 20.—The Yuba River at Marysville reached a point within two inches of high water this morning, since which time the river has been receding gradually. No break or weakness has developed in the Marysville city levee. Water will gradually recede, unless renewed storms occur in the mountains. A special freight train between Sacramento and Red Bluff, north bound, went into a ditch four miles south of this city this morning at 1 o'clock. The engine, tender and several cars were turned over. The engineer and fireman saved themselves by swimming.

HEAVY RAIN AND HAIL.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NAPA, March 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Heavy showers of rain and hail fell here yesterday and today. The weather has turned considerably colder. Rainfall for twenty-four hours preceding 2 o'clock this afternoon amounted to .30 of an inch. This makes the total for the season to date 27.22 inches, against 24.17 inches last season to the corresponding date.

BRING TEA BY CARAVAN.

Because of War Difficulties Moscow Merchants Will Resort to Old Mode of Transportation.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

MOSCOW, March 20.—[By Atlantic Cable.] Owing to the discontinuance of the trips of the volunteer fleet steamers, no tea is coming from Ceylon by water. The practical suspension of freight trains over the Trans-Siberian Railroad makes it almost impossible to get tea from China. One merchant, who has 20,000 chests of tea en route in Manchuria, offers to sell it at a nominal price to the government for the use of the soldiers.

Because of the difficulty in delivery here, the merchants have decided, as a last resort, to return to the old Mongolian caravan route through Klakhta, and will petition the government to afford them facilities.

PITH OF NEWS FROM THE MIDDLE WEST.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, March 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Spring was officially ushered in today, but there was little except the official announcement to confirm the fact, owing to a drop of 14 deg. from the maximum temperature of Saturday. There was some consolation in the prediction of warmer weather tomorrow; maximum temperature today, 30; minimum, 26. Middle West temperatures: Alpena, 20; Bismarck, 38; Cairo, 46; Cheyenne, 40; Cincinnati, 46; Cleveland, 26; Davenport, 36; Denver, 54; Des Moines, 38; Detroit, 28; Dodge City, 72; Dubuque, 32; Duluth, 20; Edmonton, 10; Escanaba, 22; Grand Rapids, 28; Green Bay, 24; Helena, 32; Huron, 30; Indianapolis, 44; Kansas City, 44; Marquette, 18; Memphis, 64; Milwaukee, 28; Minnedosa, 16; North Platte, 42; Omaha, 36; Rapid City, 48; St. Louis, 42; St. Paul, 34; St. Ste. Marie, 14; Springfield, Ill., 40; Springfield, Mo., 44; Wichita, 58.

BENEFITS OF SNOW.

The benefits of six feet of snow which has fallen in Chicago since last Thanksgiving is shown in the latest bulletin of the Health Department, which says the storms have purified the air and the white flakes have covered the dirty streets, so that some of the contagious diseases have been reduced to negligible quantities.

MATADOR GORED TO DEATH.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

EL PASO (Tex.) March 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Cuckoo, a matador noted throughout Mexico, was gored to death in the Juarez bull ring today in the presence of several thousand people, the majority of whom were Americans.

KENTUCKY'S MOST BEAUTIFUL.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LEXINGTON (Ky.) March 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Miss Elise Castleman is soon to wed C. Elmer Railey, a prominent Kentucky turfman. Miss Castleman, with her sister, Alice, who recently wedded Augustus Horn of New York, have been declared the most beautiful women in Kentucky. They are daughters of Gen. John B. Castleman.

GATES BOOMING RICE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW ORLEANS (La.) March 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] John W. Gates has become a promoter in a rice-trust scheme, capitalized at $1,500,000. Gustave A. Jahn, a New York rice importer, is another. This project was launched yesterday at a conference held in Beaumont, Tex.

PREACHERS' FACTIONS FIGHT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LOUISVILLE (Ky.) March 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Fist fights necessitated the sending of policemen to the Meade-street Baptist Church this morning. The pastor, Rev. Dr. Charles F. Leonard, led his faction of members into the church, dispersing his opponents, who had brought another preacher to fill the pulpit. Dr. Leonard was assaulted during the fray, and the opposing preacher fled. A majority of the congregation is opposed to Dr. Leonard and discharged him, but he refused to recognize the order.

TRACT SOCIETY'S VALUABLE WORK.

JUSTICE BREWER PRESIDES AT ASSOCIATION MEETING.

Eighty-nine Publications Added to the List During the Year—Work Among the Utah Mormons is of Intense Interest—Has Expended Three-fourths of a Million Dollars.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, March 20.—The annual meeting of the American Tract Society was held in the Church of the Covenant. Justice Brewer presided and made a brief address, setting forth the general work of the Tract Society, both in the home and foreign field. He emphasized the necessity of this work, as well as showing that there was no other agency so well equipped to furnish Christian literature in the many languages and dialects.

Rev. Judson Swift reported the year's work, and William H. Taft, Secretary of War, delivered an address which gave an account of the progress in the Philippines, relating particularly to education and Christianity. The secretary of the society said that eighty-nine new publications had been added to the list during the year. These were in English, Polish, Bohemian, German, Hungarian, Spanish, Swedish and Italian, and the total number of distinct periodicals added was 180, making the grand total of publications issued since the organization of the society, including volumes, tracts and periodicals, 749,315,572.

The tract society furnishes all or nearly all of the Christian literature in the Spanish language, and during the year has distributed in the American colonies upward of 1,000,000 pages, and the total for the year in the Spanish-speaking countries is 5,312,000 pages. Six colporteurs are laboring in Cuba. The work among the Mormons in Utah is of intense interest. The distribution of Christian literature my colporteur wagon and colporteurs reaches thousands of homes, placing wholesome reading in the hands of the youth.

The society has expended a total of three-fourths of a million dollars in creating a circulating Christian vernacular literature at the foreign mission stations. The great need of the foreign field at the present time is a larger increase of Christian literature. Many of the missionaries state that the education of the youth of the mission schools will be largely in vain, unless a sufficient amount of Christian and wholesome literature is provided for them upon their graduation. This is particularly true of India and Japan.

IT REMAINS SUBMERGED

Unsuccessful Attempts Made to Raise British Submarine Boat Sunk by a Steamer.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PORTSMOUTH, March 20.—[By Atlantic Cable.] Attempts were made today without success to raise the British submarine boat No. 1 A., which was run down by the Donald Currie line steamer Berwick Castle Friday afternoon.

STEAMER OFFICIALS SILENT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

HAMBURG, March 20.—The Donald Currie line steamship Berwick Castle, which ran down the British submarine boat No. 1 A, near Portsmouth, Friday afternoon, arrived here today undamaged. The officers of the vessel declined to give any information concerning the matter pending an official statement.

The Daily Mail's Hamburg correspondent says that the captain of the Berwick Castle persists in the assertion that it is impossible that his ship could have collided with the submarine No. A1, as the shock would have been much more violent. He says he felt two very slight shocks, and that the atmosphere was clear and that he saw no submarine boat.

It has been ascertained that the submarine's hull was also pierced. The boat will be salvaged first by repairing and then filling it with compressed air, the position in which she lies and the currents having compelled a suspension of the attempts to lift her. The divers report that it is impossible to see inside the submarine. The opinion is that the boat filled with water immediately. The disaster to No. A1 has created a most painful impression in all classes.

Queen Alexandra, the Duke of Connaught and the chiefs of the Admiralty have sent messages of sympathy to the relatives of the victims. Admiral Fisher, in an official signal to the fleet expressing sorrow, says: "Practically our gallant comrades died in action. Their lives were not thrown away, if we consider their splendid example of cheerful and enthusiastic performance of duty, involving all the risks of war."

PLAYWRITER'S SUICIDE.

DETROIT, March 20.—Robert Leland, an actor and writer of several melodramas, was found dead today in his room in a lodging-house on Columbia street. He had committed suicide by stuffing up every crack and crevice in the room and then turning on the gas. Leland, who was 30 years of age, was said by one of his friends to be the son of a wealthy banker in Salt Lake, named Smedley.

HOMES FOR LAKE DWELLERS.

ST. LOUIS, March 20.—The filling of the Arrow Head Lake with water at the World's Fair grounds today marked the beginning of the completion, in its details, of the exposition. This body of water skirts the Philippine reservation and contains about nine million gallons of water. It is to be used for homes for the lake-dwelling tribes of the Philippines and will also afford a fire protection.

SEVENTIETH BIRTHDAY.

President Eliot of Harvard University is Presented With a Loving Cup by the Faculty.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CAMBRIDGE (Mass.) March 20.—Surrounded by members of his family and of the college faculty, who brought many tokens of their love and esteem, Charles W. Eliot, president of Harvard University, celebrated his seventieth anniversary today.

This afternoon, President Eliot was invited to University Hall, where he met the faculty and was presented with a loving cup, in accepting which Dr. Eliot said: "I have received many tributes of affection, but none so dear as those from the departments of the faculty. I owe to the university all that I have accomplished, and am myself a product of the university and the influence of the two governing boards."

GOVERNOR OF MAURITIUS.

ST. JOHNS (N. F.) March 20.—Sir Cavendish Boyle, Governor of Newfoundland, has been promoted to the governorship of Mauritius. This is one of the most important of the British Colonial governorships, and carries a salary of $25,000 a year, as against $10,600 paid to the Governor of Newfoundland. The promotion is due to Sir Cavendish Boyle's tactful handling of French shore matters during his incumbency of the present post. He will leave here early in May.

VICTOR AND THE KAISER.

ROME, March 20.—King Victor Emmanuel has ordered the royal yacht to be sent to Naples, March 26, for his meeting with Emperor William of Germany, who will remain there four days. The Associated Press is semi-officially assured that the meeting of the monarchs will have no political significance, although the sovereigns wish to have a verbal exchange of views concerning pending international questions.

REDMOND WOULD STRIKE.

MANCHESTER, March 20.—John Redmond, addressing an Irish demonstration here today, said that the first business of the party was to strike down the present government, and then to see that no government was put into office which would not grant home rule to Ireland. He said it was ridiculous for Liberals like Herbert H. Asquith to call home rule an "academic question."

"LOVE'S CARNIVAL" FAILS.

LONDON, March 20.—George Alexander makes the unusual announcement that in consequence of the failure of the "Love's Carnival," an English version of the German play "Rosen Montagu," which was produced at St. James Theater last Wednesday night, it will be withdrawn tomorrow and be replaced by "Old Heidelberg," which ran for two hundred nights prior to the opening of "Love's Carnival."

MILES OF PRAIRIE FIRE.

Property Along Railroad in Nebraska Destroyed With Narrow Escapes of Human Lives.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

HEMINGFORD (Neb.) March 20.—Destructive prairie fires have swept the range country. The ground being dry, the fire burned the roots of the grass to the ground, destroying it for grazing for three years.

One strip burned is six by twelve miles; another is more than twenty miles long and very wide, while another strip, still burning, north of the Niobrara River seems to have been more extensive. Ranch sheds, barns, groves on timber claims and property along the railroad has been destroyed. Several narrow escapes from death are reported from the ranches.

BUSY WEEK FOR SENATORS.

Big Supply Bills to Take up Their Time.

Knotty Postoffice Problems in the Lower House.

Reports on the Foreign Crops. Mrs. Miles Better.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, March 20.—The present week in the Senate will be devoted almost entirely to appropriation bills, beginning Tuesday with that of the District of Columbia and following with the Indian and Pension Bills. Neither the District nor the Indian Bill has been reported from committee, but both are promised early in the week, and they will take precedence over the Pension Bill, notwithstanding the latter is now on the calendar. The Pension Bill is held back by additional legislation, but its consideration will not be long delayed. It is not expected there will be any effort to increase the amount carried by the bill on account of the recent executive pension order. Unobjected bills on the calendar will be taken up tomorrow, and further consideration may be given to Senator Fairbanks's bill, providing for a new department building in this city.

The Postoffice, Military Academy and Sundry Civil Service Appropriation bills constitute the work mapped out for the week. The House will adjourn Monday early, owing to the death of Representative Thomson of Alabama. The Postoffice Bill is pending, and several knotty questions, such as rural free delivery, salaries, railway mail subsidies and railway mail service are likely to prolong its consideration for several days. The Military Academy Bill is not expected to consume much time.

The Rural Free-Delivery Bill will probably be read in the latter part of the week. The present indications are that no other matters of importance are likely to be injected into the proceedings of the week. The postoffice report will be cared for hereafter by the McCall committee, which is to sit in open session during the week.

FOREIGN CROP REPORT.

ESTIMATES ON EXPORTS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, March 20.—The foreign crop report of the Department of Agriculture gives the following:

Austria—Official estimates of wheat crop for 1903, 46,014,068 bushels of 60 pounds each.

Australia—Wheat crop of 1903-04, undoubtedly very large and will leave an unusual quantity available for export.

Argentina—Visible wheat supply about 56 per cent. greater than a year ago, and double that of corresponding date in 1902. The surplus available for export out of the 1903-04 crop is unofficially estimated at over ninety million bushels.

Roumania—Wheat area sown in the fall of 1903 officially estimated at 4,011,462 acres.

Russia—Official estimates: Wheat area for 1903, 577,264,238 acres; production 620,357,659 bushels of sixty pounds.

Turkey—German Consul-General reports grain crops of Turkey extraordinarily good.

Italy—Crop conditions fairly good.

France—Official primary estimates of 1903-04 crop areas show wheat 15,920,428 acres. The winter wheat area is over 3 per cent. less than a year ago. Condition of cereals stated as falling somewhat below "good."

WORLD'S COTTON CROP.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, March 20.—The world's cotton crop for 1902-03 is estimated by the Department of Agriculture at 17,179,765 bales, valued at $750,082,450.

WASHINGTON NOTES.

Postmaster-General Better.

WASHINGTON, March 20.—The condition of Postmaster-General Payne, who has been confined to the house for several days, continues favorable. Last night he slept ten hours and awoke feeling refreshed. He is said to be gaining in strength, and there is less extreme nervousness.

Mrs. Miles Resting.

WASHINGTON, March 20.—Mrs. Miles, wife of Lieut.-Gen. Miles, is reported tonight to be resting easily. She has improved steadily for the past four days, but still is very seriously ill.

Dewey Draws the Line.

WASHINGTON, March 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] At a meeting of the joint Army and Navy Board a few days hence, Admiral Dewey will open war on the proposed intrusion of the army into naval warfare. The objection is to the proposed purchase of submarine boats to operate with land batteries in harbor-defense work.

RUBBER FOOTWEAR ADVANCES

NEW YORK, March 20.—A circular has been sent out to the trade by the United States Rubber Company announcing an advance of 7 per cent. on all classes of rubber footwear to take effect immediately.

A Homesick Canine.

A remarkable case of genuine sagacity was displayed recently by a beautiful sable shepherd dog, the pet of Miss Lucile Mosher, No. 444 Belden avenue. Six weeks ago Miss Mosher removed with her family from Grand Rapids, Mich., to Chicago, and two weeks later the dog, Bonnie, came with a friend via the Michigan Central Railway, going from the depot to the Mosher home in the street cars. The next morning the family went downtown, leaving the dog at home. Bonnie, seeing only unfamiliar faces and surroundings, evidently considered himself a stranger in a strange land and decided to return to his old home. He found his way alone and unaided to the Michigan Central Railroad depot, where he was observed a few hours later by some of the depot officials looking through the trains, evidently trying to find trace of someone he knew or decide which train would take him back to Grand Rapids, where he eventually arrived.—[Chicago Record-Herald.

THE FAR EAST.

Admiral Avelian, the Russian Minister of Marine, who said it has been necessary to replace Vice-Admiral Stark, the condition of whose health was deplorable, with an energetic man like Vice-Admiral Makaroff, but the minister denied that the presence of either Vice-Admiral Makaroff or Gen. Kourop atkin affected the position of Viceroy Alexieff, adding that Vice-Admiral Makaroff's telegrams to the Emperor would pass through the Viceroy's hands. The minister said he did not expect that there would be any further changes relating to the Emperor's principal representative at the seat of war during the entire period of duration of hostilities.

Minister Avelian said he hoped that the battleships Retvizan and Czarevitch and the cruiser Pallada would be ready to resume service in a fortnight. He declared that the separation of the Russian squadrons had proved to be most useful, and finally confirmed the statement that the Mediterranean squadron would return to Liao when that port is free from ice.

The correspondent says he learns that the Russians are fortifying the mouth of the Yalu and Wiju, as well as the Tatung River.

NO NEWS OF BATTLE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

LONDON, March 21.—Nothing has reached here to confirm the report that a battle has taken place on the Yalu, in which the Russians are alleged to claim that they captured 500 prisoners.

A dispatch from St. Petersbrg to a news agency, dated yesterday, says there has been no change in the situation, and that all is quiet on land and sea. Between the Russian line from Ping Yang to the Yalu River and the Japanese line to Gensan there have been slight skirmishes between scouts, but no battle has taken place, as the distance between the opposing armies is too great. The bulk of the Russian forces, the dispatch says, has not yet passed the Yalu River.

The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Daily Telegraph says that the military authorities were startled by the attempt of the Japanese to land in Helena Bay as the nearest Russian force that could have been used against them consisted of three rifle regiments at Newchwang. The weather having hindered the Japanese landing, energetic measures are now being adopted to prevent such a descent. Among the other devices adopted has been the concentration of troops at Foochow, twenty-two miles south of Helena Bay.

In cabling the fact that all British and American residents at Newchwang must remain within the walls, the correspondent of the Daily Chronicle at Newchwang says: "I was arrested while attempting to leave yesterday."

The correspondent says it is rumored that a Japanese squadron arrived at the mouth of the Liao River Sunday night and landed a party, which, after reconnoitering, reembarked.

SICKENING SIGHT AFTER A FIGHT.

SCENE ON BOARD THE RUSSIAN STEREGUSCHTCHI.

Thirty Bodies Terribly Mutilated by a Shell Lying on Deck—Only Four Survivors of a Crew of Fifty-five—News via the Wireless—Port Arthur Given a Respite.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

LONDON, March 20.—[By Atlantic Cable.] A Japanese lieutenant who boarded the Stereguschtchi said he had never seen a more sickening sight. Thirty bodies, terribly mutilated by a shell, were lying on the deck. As the Japanese approached, two Russian bluejackets rushed from the conning tower, locked themselves in the cabin aft and refused to come out. Two stokers jumped overboard and were picked up. These, with two wounded men, were the only survivors of a crew of fifty-five. When the Stereguschtchi sank, the men who were locked in the cabin sank with her.

The fight lasted nearly an hour. The weakness of the Russian torpedo-boat destroyer armament again proved fatal. The Japanese concentrated their fire on the Russian with a 12-pounder and put it out of action early in the fight, leaving her with only 3-pounders against the 12-pounders and 6-pound guns. The Japanese had three killed and four wounded.

Describing the bombardment of Port Arthur the same day, the correspondent asserts that more than 100 shells fell in the town. The effect of the great shells from the 12-inch guns must have been appalling. Outbreaks of fire were seen, and the report of an explosion was heard, which, it was surmised, occurred in one of the magazines of the forts.

NEWS VIA WIRELESS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

LONDON, March 21.—A correspondent of the Times at Newchwang cables as follows:

"According to information received here, the reason the Vladivostok forts did not reply to the bombardment by the Japanese was because the batteries were not provided with guns. Since the bombardment, parties have been working night and day to place the guns in position. The bombardment destroyed the Linevitch battery.

"The Russian losses were slight because the batteries were deserted. The same conditions prevail at Vladivostok as at Port Arthur. The supply of provisions there is running short and the population is panic stricken. The ice is considered the only real protection."

A correspondent of the Times with the Japanese forces, by wireless telegraphy via Wei-Hai-Wei, under date of March 20, sends over a column of matter, which is mostly descriptions of the torpedo fight between the Russian and Japanese on March 9. He says that Admiral Togo has been comparatively passive, according to the last advices, and that Port Arthur has been given a respite, although the cruiser and torpedo-boat destroyers have kept up a close blockade.

The correspondent says that Vice-Admiral Kamimura's bombardment of Vladivostok was solely intended to harass the Russians and compel the Russian cruisers to leave the harbor. The vice-admiral brought his ships within opposite range of the dead point of forts on the northwest entrance. The Russians did not reply, because the Japanese took up a position beyond the arc of the training of their guns.

Vice-Admiral Kamimura, the correspondent says, sailed south March 11, after searching Amur Bay.

JEWISH MERCHANTS HAD TO LEAVE PORT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

VICTORIA, March 20.—The Boston Steamship Company's steamer Shawmut arrived this morning from Manila, via China and Japan. Among her passengers were Augustus Libby and Corellius Hoff, Jewish merchants of Vladivostok, who received twenty-four hours' notice from the Russian military authorities to leave the country. They had abandoned their business, selling out at heavy sacrifice, and as egress by sea was blocked and the railway between Vladivostok and Harbin is destroyed for a considerable distance, they were compelled to travel by sledge more than a thousand miles to the nearest port on the Korean coast.

They were arrested at the Siberian-Korean frontier, where there was great difficulty about their passports, and where they were in danger of being thrown into prison as spies. No sooner had they got into Korea than they encountered the special service officers of the Japanese War Department, and they were in more trouble here, their story not being accepted, that they were refugees fleeing from Russia by order of the militia. After enduring many hardships and much annoyance, they joined the Shawmut at Yokohama.

All the time, the two Jewish merchants were in Japan they were "shadowed" by special-service men who also kept a watchful eye on one or two others of the Shawmut's passengers, one passenger having women mounting guard at his stateroom door on the suspicion that he was a Russian spy.

Libby and Hoff say that the winter at Vladivostok has been exceptionally mild. The sea has been frozen only six miles out from the harbor entrance, and the ice-breakers go out every morning, returning at noon, clearing a channel. Coasting vessels were running in and out of the harbor without difficulty. Libby says that before he left, the entire Vladivostok squadron of the Russian fleet was anchored in the harbor and had not stirred out of it for quite a long period. The Russians, just before the war, had strong forces at work on the fortifications, making new entrenchments, building bomb-proof storehouses and placing big guns. The place is immensely strong by nature, but has been rendered impregnable by the fortifications which command the entrance and channel to the harbor. The garrison in January amounted to about fifteen or twenty thousand men of all arms, most artillery. When the news of the war came, military law was immediately proclaimed, and strict surveillance was maintained on everybody in the place.

The whole seacoast around Vladivostok is a network of submarine mines. Since the outbreak of war, very few vessels have entered the harbor from the south, owing to fear of Japanese commerce destroyers. The Russians appeared to be greatly annoyed when it was learned that the railway between Vladivostok and Harbin had been torn up and the bridges dynamited. Apparently no attempt was being made to repair the damage. The Shawmut encountered Japanese torpedo boats and destroyers, hundreds of miles out at sea, and these vessels are evidently keeping a very strict watch on commerce in those waters.

The first flush of the war fever has passed in Japan, and business is going on quietly again. One hundred war correspondents left for the front today before the Shawmut sailed from Yokohama.

ALIENS IN BOUNDS AT NEWCHWANG.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEWCHWANG, March 20.—[By Asiatic Cable.] The foreign consuls today officially notified their governments that the Russian commander of the garrison has forbidden foreigners to go beyond the mud walls of the native city, with the single exception that they are allowed to use the river bank between the foreign settlement and the foreign gunboats. This exception is made solely on account of the presence of the United States gunboat Helena and the British cruiser Espiegle, which otherwise would be cut off from communication with the foreign settlements.

The order of the Russian commander particularly forbids visiting the forts on the Liao River and also Wutaitsu, a village two miles south of the forts. The order is declared to be a necessary military measure, on account of the arrangements being made for the defense of the coast.

Foreigners still have access to the west and north shores of the Liao and to the use of the railway and telegraph, although the Chinese managers of the telegraph line have instructed their employés to withdraw to Thien Chuang Tai, in the event of hostilities. This action, and also the threatened withdrawal of the railway staff, is severely condemned on account of their being outside of real danger.

The German Consul at Tien-tsin, in an official statement, says the purpose of his visit is to investigate the causes of alarm and the danger to German residents. It was reported yesterday that the Russian officials had approached Germany with the object of engaging German protection of Russian property at Newchwang, particularly the Russo-Chinese Bank, and that this was the object of the German Consul's visit. The Russian authorities have given notice that no Consul communications on affairs originating in, or connected with, Dalny or Port Arthur, will be received.

Responsible Russians here have a well-defined impression that American or other consuls will not be allowed at Mukden, Antung or elsewhere in Manchuria.

WAR BULLETINS FROM MANY POINTS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, March 20.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The Metropolitan Archbishop of St. Petersburg has sent an ikon to the torpedo boat Roshitelny, which, in the conflict of March 9, managed to elude the Japanese fire. This ikon, it is believed, will safeguard the boat from further harm.

Prince Abemelik Lazareff, a descendant of the Armenian Kings, is giving a series of fetes for the benefit of the Red Cross Society at his historic mansion. Society leaders are figuring in the dances at the fetes, including Princess Alexandra Yourievski, daughter-in-law of Alexander II by a morganatic marriage, and Princess Abemelik, who artistically danced the fandango.

KING EDWARD'S ROLE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. PETERSBURG, March 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The importance of the political role played by King Edward is highly appreciated here. The Novoe Vremya, which is anti-English, says it is an event of surprising political importance.

It is believed here that the Vladivostok squadron is making another effort to join the squadron at Port Arthur. A sea engagement is expected at any moment.

SAYS MONEY STICKS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NAGASAKI, March 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] One of the Russians who was captured March 10, when the destroyer Stereguschtchi was sunk, says food is scarce in Port Arthur, because the money for supplies has stuck to the officers' fingers. Food in Port Arthur cannot support the garrison for more than a month, and all have been put on short rations.

KOREAN MINISTER'S GRATITUDE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. PETERSBURG, March 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A curious explanation is given for the Korean Minister's donation of fifty roubles to the fund for Russian naval purposes. The Korean government having ceased to remit money to him, the Minister was forced to reveal his impecunious condition to one of his diplomatic colleagues, who informed Foreign Minister Lamsdorff. Touched by the Korean Minister's undeserved misfortune, the Russian government opened credit for him. His donation to the naval fund was in acknowledgment of this kindness.

WAR GOOD FOR COOK.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, March 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The patriotism of Countess Cassini, the daughter of the Russian Ambassador, is beyond question. Countess Cassini had a marvelous gown, newly made, of embroidered Japanese crepe. The day that Russia declared war on Japan, the Countess contemptously gave the gown to the cook at the Embassy.

YUAN SHI KAI'S MOVE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

YINKOW, March 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Viceroy Yuan Shi Kai is sending more troops to guard the railway here and at Shan Hai Kwan in anticipation of a landing of the Japanese force.

Three refugees who arrived from Vladivostok today state that the bombardment of that town had slight effect. They say that four cruisers and one volunteer steamer were in the harbor, and the garrison was strong. Provisions were scarce, and civilians have deserted the town.

MOBILIZING IN TURKESTAN.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PARIS, March 21.—According to the St. Petersburg correspondent of the Matin, a member of the Russian imperial family has declared that the mobilization of troops is proceeding actively in Turkestan. The concentration of troops is being effected on the railway from Merv to Kushka, a frontier fortress overlooking the Pamirs. It is believed that Grand Duke Nicholas Nicolaevitch, general-in-chief of the cavalry, will assume command of the troops in Turkestan.

New Style Trading Stamp.

A new kind of trading stamp has appeared in Milwaukee. Its color is red, to distinguish it from all others, and it is as good as cash at the stores where it is given out. Instead of exchanging it for certain prizes at a trading stamp store, as is done with the other stamps, the one who receives it uses it to buy whatever he may want at the store where he gets it. In this plan customers can get just what they want—not some prize that they do not care for. Merchants who use this kind of stamp will advertise it in their regular advertisements.—[Milwaukee Free Press.

Animal Stories for Little Ones.

TOO WISE BY HALF.

The Story of an Old Monkey of Timbuctoo.

[SPECIALLY CONTRIBUTED TO THE TIMES.]

THERE was once an old monkey who lived in Timbuctoo, and thought he was wiser than all the other monkeys who ever had lived there or anywhere else in the world. Perhaps this was because he had once been a pet monkey, and his master had taught him to read. But he was to learn that merely reading books does not make people wise. One day some hunters set a narrow-mouthed jar outside of their tent. "Now, look at that," said the wise monkey, who had been nicknamed Aleck by his friends and neighbors. "Just look at that, will you? Those men have put that jar out to catch monkeys. It has cocoanuts in it. The cocoanuts are just big enough to slip through the mouth of it, but when one of you foolish monkeys goes there and gets hold of a cocoanut you'll find it won't come out with your paws around it. You're greedy; you will not be willing to let go of the cocoanut. The men will come out and catch you, and then you will be carried away across the seas and put in a thing they call a circus. But I'm going to save you. I'm wise. Watch me. I shall turn those cocoanuts out of the jar, you can gather them up and then we will have a real picnic."

The wise monkey danced up to the jar, turned it upside down, and shook it. But, dear me! the hunters were not trying to catch monkeys, and the jar chanced to be full of tar, which poured out all over his feet. The tar was so sticky that he could not run; then the hunters came out of the tent and cleaned off his feet with benzine and turpentine. So it was the wise monkey who got himself carried across the seas and put in the circus. "A little knowledge is a dangerous thing," said the huntsmen who caught him.

The Deceived Dogs.

"I believe that our mistress thinks more of me than of any of you," said the spaniel to the other dogs who occupied places on their mistress's lap.

"No, she cares most for me," said pug.

"You are both wrong, for I am her favorite," chimed in another dog.

"Why should you dispute this matter among yourselves when it is easy to be seen that I am uppermost in her affections," added a shaggy-coated little poodle.

And so it was that the discussion waxed warm between them, and they actually grew angry and snarled and snapped and made ugly faces all because each of them was sure that he was the best beloved and because they could not convince each other of their respective claims to the affections of their mistress.

Now, while all this was going on the mistress's little boy Willie was lying on the floor reading a book and paying no attention to the curlish squabble that was going on among the canines in his mother's lap.

"What are you reading?" asked his mother.

"A nice little story I learned at school," replied Willie.

"Well, come up upon my lap and read it to me, my little boy."

And with that she dumped the dogs in a heap on the floor.

"I guess she don't care as much for us as we thought," they each said as they sneaked away.

And I guess they were right at last.

Mr. Pigeon's Sad Mistake.

"Now that you have such fine Sunday clothes, I should have a new hat," said Mrs. Pigeon to Mr. Pigeon.

"What kind of a hat?" asked Mr. Pigeon.

"A hat with ostrich feathers," said Mrs. Pigeon.

"Where can I get them?" asked Mr. Pigeon.

"From the tail of that ostrich walking across the field," said Mrs. Pigeon.

"Oh! he would not let me pull the feathers from his tail," cried Mr. Pigeon. "Only men can do that."

"You surprise me," cried Mrs. Pigeon. "Why, with that high hat, and polka-dot tie, and standing collar, and striped trousers, you look so much like a man that the ostrich will think you are a man. Run along over there now like a good husband and get me the feathers."

"TILL TRY," SAID MR. PIGEON.

"I'll try," said Mr. Pigeon, and off ostrich and made a dive for a feather.

The ostrich turned his head and dealt he went. He got up real close to the Mr. Pigeon a fearful whack with his bill. The high hat was split clear in two and Mr. Pigeon rolled over on the ground in a heap half senseless. Then Mr. Ostrich walked away as if nothing had happened.

"He didn't think I was a man," said Mr. Pigeon to his wife as she bathed his head.

"You silly goose," said she; "you should have told him you were a man. Then it would have been easy."

The Foolish Cow.

Farmer Jenkins had a handsome cow, of which he was very proud. She gave more milk than any other two cows in the county, and the old farmer declared he would not take a bucketful of money for her.

Well, they held a big cow show, a country fair, and Farmer Jenkins decided to take his cow there and win the prize. Now, what do you suppose that cow did? Why, she simply made up her mind not to take the prize for fear she would be bought at once by somebody and taken away from her good home at Farmer Jenkins's.

So, when all the cows were brought out at the fair and Farmer Jenkins wanted to show what a wonderful milk producer he owned, his cow would not yield a single drop of milk, to the farmer's great disgust.

Then, in anger, he called a butcher and sold the cow to him, and The butcher straightway killed her and sent her meat to market.

Moral: Always do your best.

The Foolish Chickens.

Three Shanghai chickens once met and decided that they were tired of their white feathers, and they ought to do something so they would have a better variety of clothes. So the oldest one suggested that they get a can of paint and pain striped suits on each other like a new style they had seen an English gentleman wear that morning.

Well, they all agreed, and the paint was procured and soon all were striped with bright colors, but alas! The paint would not dry, and they were as sticky as fly paper. Everything seemed to stick to them, from the dust to the old leaves, and three more miserable chickens you never saw in all your life. At last the old farmer to whom they belonged found them all huddled together, and he dipped them in turpentine, which removed the paint, but smarted so that they could do nothing but cry and bewail their sad fate.

After that experience they determined never again to be guided by fashions, but to be perfectly satisfied with their natural appearance, and keep their pretty white feathers as white as they possibly could.

The Virtuous Bear.

A fox and a bear were once traveling through the country, when they came to a fire which some hunters had made. It was a cold day, and they greatly enjoyed warming themselves. "I wish we could carry some of this stuff along with us, as the men people do," Reynard said.

"Huh!" grunted Bruin, "my coat is warm enough for me. I have little need of fire."

"Oh! but such a noble gentleman as yourself ought to think of other people," the fox flattered. "Look at me; my coat is far from warm; I tremble at each icy blast. A good fire to warm my toes every night would certainly lengthen my days. So great a man as yourself can certainly think of some way to carry it, and so will surely try."

CONTRADICTORY

Curious and Puzzling Combinations of Words Made in the English Language.

[New Orleans Times-Democrat.] "Some curious and puzzling combinations of words can be made in English," remarked a man who is a scholar and choice in the use of words. "Take up any newspaper, magazine or newspaper, and you will find these involved and contradictory phrases. They are sometimes amusing, sometimes vexing. One of the dearest to the eternal fitness of our innermost thoughts is when the man who can ever write or Greek or Spanish, or all three, often fall into them. The phrases I have heard, and read them are common property, too numerous to mention. For example, the man who, on winning a game of euchre after a long play, exclaims: 'First at last; always behind,' stated and described a peculiar English words.

"A western humorist says that it is queer that the sun never falls, and night never breaks.' We read of a new book. One side or the other is always in by certain conditions, and by reason of the fact were thrown down by they are broken up. And in such matters, a book down, it will be common thrown up the entire being shut in as he was tain to be closed out in

HANDSOME CHURCH FOR PICO HEIGHTS.

FOUNDATIONS will soon be laid for the stately and beautiful Roman Catholic Church to be erected on the valuable property at the corner of Pico and Hobson streets recently purchased as a site for the sacred edifice. While the interior appointments of the new church will be modern and strictly down to date, the style of architecture dear to the hearts of the old signers of the proposed structure. The plans and specifications accepted call for an auditorium 113 feet long and 46 feet wide, with a seating capacity of 500. At the main entrance there will be a deep vestibule connected with the church by heavy folding doors. On either side of the vestibule two sacristies will be established 12x12 feet. Over the main entrance and facing the central altar, will be the organ loft and gallery. Three altars will adorn the main auditorium—one in the center in honor of St. Thomas the Apostle, the patron saint of the church; one on the right in honor of the Home of the Sacred Heart, and one on the left, in honor of the Blessed Virgin, Our Lady of Guadalupe.

The plans call for the expenditure of $30,000. The church will be completed about the end of June.

Rev. C. C. Clifford, pastor of the Church of St. Thomas the Apostle, has won many sincere friends, during his pastorate on Pico Heights. He is a young man, earnest and untiring in effort, and is pronounced one of the eloquent speakers of the great parent church. His highest hopes have been for a house of worship with ample room for all, and built to commemorate the early triumphs of the old mission fathers.

Property values in the vicinity will be greatly enhanced by the handsome structure. Situated in a choice residence section, it will be a landmark around which will cluster many stately homes.

Great plans are in preparation for the dedication of the new church next June.

...er is molded by his thinking. "As he thinketh in his heart so he is."

Sin works confusion first in the realm of thought, then in conduct.

Thoughtlessly Peter had denied his Lord. The second cock-crowing had brought him to his senses, and turning from the glamor of the fire of coals and the babble of the high priest's servants, he turned his face toward the darkness and went out. The memory of other days, trying days, happy days, came to him, and in the light of past experiences he estimated his recent action and recognized its baseness. "And when he thought thereon he wept."

Neither the gospel in song nor the gospel in sermon has any power until it agitates one's thought.

To produce conversion we need both thoughtful preaching and thoughtful hearing.

The spirit of the age is unfavorable to religious thoughtfulness. The toiler of today gets brain weary as well as muscle weary in earning his wages, and then it takes a lot of thinking to spend his money to best advantage.

Satan's numerous diversions give a man but little time to think about God and the future life.

We see Peter's true character through the tears shed in silence and alone.

There is a vast difference between the man who sins and chuckles over it and thinks it smart, and the man who rues and hates and weeps over it.

"Was Peter a Christian at that time?" What an uncharitable question! What took him to the garden? What aroused him to the defence of Christ with his sword? What brought him to the palace at the midnight hour? A fisherman from Galilee, whose speech bewrayeth him, why is he not in his boat attending his nets? Why his uneasiness among the servants, now sitting, now standing, going from the fire to the porch, and from the porch to the fire, and then out into the darkness? And, more than that, why those bitter tears?

To deny his Lord was a base, mean, cowardly, cruel thing. It admits of no excuse, and no apology can soften it. Yet it is true that Peter was wearing a mask then, trying to appear what he really was not, an agnostic concerning Christ. His disguise did not deceive the servants, nor did his repeated denials convince them. The preponderance of evidence denied his denials. He was still a Christian.

We are all prone to wander and liable to fall, some in one way and some in another. One denies his Lord by speaking as he ought not, and when he ought not. Another denies his Lord by being silent when he ought to speak.

If conscious of such backsliding let us imitate Peter in retirement and reflection. Peter went out away from the mocking, jeering crowd that had tripped him, and getting away from them he came to himself, his true self.

Arbor Day Sermon.

Rev. Frank DeWitt Talmage appropriately followed the week's events yesterday in his sermon at the First Presbyterian Church, giving his hearers an Arbor-Sunday disquisition on "Trees."

In the course of his talk the preacher said: "Young people, I would like to speak just one word to you. You are apt to think that the period of youth does not amount to much. I want to tell you that your are now forming habits that will grow stronger and stronger as the years roll on. The bark of the trees is the place where life is supposed to exist. But if the inside of the tree is tunneled out by a worm, the substance will be eaten out, and the whole will totter and fall. One small, sinful habit can destroy the whole human heart. One little tug in youth in the wrong direction can pull off the branches of truth and purity and love and honor, and make a lop-sided tree.

"What you do now will decide the moral character of your future. Trees 1000 years old are neither more nor less than the fully developed and expanded pefections and imperfections of a tree only four, five, ten or twenty years old. Many a murderer has started on the road to the gallows by whetting his taste for blood with early torture of a dog or a caged rat. Old trees bear the scars upon their sides inflicted in youth.

"But though a fallen tree is a dead tree—which nearly always falls in the way it has grown, a living tree, no matter how young or old, can become ingrafted. Grafting may be accomplished in many different ways. In budding grafting, a bud is selected; then a strong young branch is cut crosswise, with a sharp knife. Then the bud is placed upon the bare branch, and the four pieces of bark are joined at the bud's base and the wound is covered over with Japanese marting.

"So the young human tree may be ingrafted. These can have Christ's perfections, in all their freshness and fragrance, made to grow into them. They can grow into the Christian life so gradually and sweetly that they will not be able to tell the exact moment of their conversion.

"But there is another process. There is sprouting grafting, and by this method, whole limbs are cut off and new limbs from other trees are placed in the fork-shaped crotches. If necessary, nothing need be left but the trunk of the old tree; this was the way Christ's life was ingrafted into Paul's. This was the way Baxter and Bunyan, and Jerry McAuley and Harry Monroe, of ancient and modern generations, have been converted. Whole branches of sin, which have been growing for many years upon these gnarled trunks, have been lopped off. My brother, from the oldest, weakest and poorest of human trees, there is still hope that the branches of the beams of the Cross may produce an upright work for God.

"All fallen trees are dead trees; yes, but some trees which are not fallen are dead trees, also. Would that instead of being a dead tree to Christ, we would become a living tree in God. Arboriculturists declare that the roots are just as wide and strong underneath the ground as the branches of the tree growing overhead. I, myself, in climbing a mountain, have seen a tree which by its roots has been able to sustain itself upon the side of a precipice.

"Let us, as living trees, sink our roots deep, and fasten them to the Calvary Rock. Let us lift our branches high, that our leafy hands may be cleansed with showers of heavenly benedictions. Then, when the time comes for the human tree to fall, Christ will lift us up and carry us above to become one of the pillars of the heavenly temple, as He once carried His own cross toward Calvary. Upon that cross He died for our sins."

The Sacrifice of Isaac.

Rev. J. S. Thomson, pastor of the Independent Church of Christ, in the Simpson Auditorium, preached yesterday on "The Supremacy of Jehovah over Elohim as Seen in Abraham's Sacrifice of Isaac." Among his other thoughts were these:

Elohim signifies gods. It is used with a singular verb in a collective sense, as we use "United States" in the singular. The Elohim are sons of God. They made Adam and Eve male and female. "In our image, after our likeness." So the Elohim are represented as male and female; and also as agents they represent the divine attributes. God made the worlds through them. Jehovah is not a noun. It is a symbol and signifies the perfect being, father and mother in eternal union. Jehovah is a far higher conception of God than Elohim; for, while Jehovah means wisdom, power, justice and love, in a parent, the Elohim mean power and wisdom. Polytheism is the religion of Elohim, and monotheism is the religion of Jehovah. The Elohim commanded Abraham to offer up Isaac, but Jehovah prevented the sacrifice. The first born of man and beast in ancient times were to be offered up to the gods. In the laws of Moses, it was permitted to parents to offer up birds or animals instead of their first born, and Jesus was redeemed by His parents with two birds. The conception of God as a parent inspired Moses to make this merciful law; and it was Jehovah that provided the sheep for a sacrifice instead of Isaac. Parents should dedicate their children to the highest conception of God and man that they have attained. Abraham did not intend to kill Isaac on the altar; for he told Isaac that "God will provide Himself a lamb for burnt offering," and Abraham said to his two servants, "I and the lad will go yondar and worship and come again to you," and in Hebrews it is written "by faith Abraham offered up Isaac, accounting that God was able to raise him up even from the dead, from whence also he received him in a figure." The sacrifice of Isaac was a religious ceremony. He dedicated him to God in a most solemn and sacred manner. Hannibal, the celebrated Carthagenian general, was consecrated to his country's God at the altar by a solemn oath. Could not Abraham have offered up Isaac at home? He did not need to go to Moriah for that purpose, some one will say. Melchisedek was a priest of Elohim in Salem, or Moriah, and Abraham and he were friends. They had met before, when Abraham was returning a victor from the battle of the kings. There was an altar there, or a sanctuary, and Abraham was welcome to use it. The altar was prepared on a hill, or a mountain. The sacred mysteries were celebrated on mountains in ancient times. Moses received the law on a mountain, and Elijah received revelations and commands on a mountain. Christ and His disciples saw wonders on a mount, and the disciples were requested to tell no man what they had seen. Several other particulars as well as these show that Isaac was dedicated to God according to the ancient mysteries, and God accepted the dedication, and made glorious promises to Abraham at the time.

The Lord's Day.

At the First Christian Church yesterday morning the Rev. A. C. Smither preached upon "The Lord's Day."

"The Lord's day," he observed, "is a day of rest, of cessation from labor in the ordinary vocations of life. In this respect is continued one of the features of the old-time Jewish Sabbaths. Such a day is needed by man's physical, mental, moral and religious nature. A man can accomplish more labor in one year's time by laboring six days in a week than he can in the same period of time by laboring every day in the year. Here as elsewhere the law of God as revealed in the sacred book accords with His law in the mental world. Man's body and mind need a weekly rest and provision for this need is made in the Lord's Day.

"The Lord's Day is or should be a day of worship, should furnish an opportunity to all lovers of God to assemble with others of kindred spirits in the sanctuary of the Eternal to pour out praises of worship and song to Almighty God for His wonderful gifts to the children of men. Man is incurably religious and this day affords an opportunity for the gratification of this divine nature implanted within him. The selection of one day in seven for such a purpose is a great means of spiritual growth. It may be observed that those persons who continuously ignore this sacred day for communion with God seldom show any evidence of religious devotion or character.

"It is a day for work, for rendering special service to God. It affords splendid opportunities for preaching the gospel, for teaching the facts concerning the kingdom, for visiting the sick, for ministering to the unfortunate. Jesus's example in this respect as in every other is worthy of study though He lived under the Jewish dispensation and observed the Sabbath as did the Jews.

"One of the greatest evidences of the spiritual degeneracy of this age is the growing desecration of the Lord's Day, the growing disregard for the proper observance of this day which is a benediction to every pilgrim and toiler on earth. The Lord's Day comes as a veritable blessing from heaven to the man who properly observes it, regards its purpose and end. To those who make it a holiday it often adds another burden to the toils of the week. That man is happiest and best who most conforms to the requirements of the Bible with reference to the Lord's Day."

Immortality.

Rev. Joseph Smale at the First Baptist Church yesterday morning preached from Rev. xxii:11. The sermon was the third in a series upon the doctrine of future punishments. "Immortality," the preacher said, "is a word of common usage. As more than one meaning is attached to it, let us inquire as to its use in scripture. God is discribed as imoltal. "Now unto the King, eternal, immortal,' and again, 'Who only hath immortality.' Here the sense is that there is nothing in the nature of God of a disintegrating, corruptible character.

"The Bible associates the word with man. Jesus Christ is said to have brought life and immortality to light, and that those who seek for glory, honor and immortality shall have eternal life. The word in each place is the same and rendered by the revised version reads 'incorruption.' The burden of the thought being, not endless duration, but a condition, immune from every ill. When we ask, is man immortal, it is an inquiry on the subject of his relation to the future. We mean, will man live forever? Does he perish as the beast or does death but change his mode of existence? Has he a hereafter and is that hereafter eternal? Has God imparted perpetuity to the constitution of man? Some think that the soul, like the present body, is a dissoluble structure, and others, while not denying, do not affirm but simply admit that they do not known. In the midst of denyers and doubters it may be interesting to think of where is the general consciousness of the race to be found. The evidence certainly speaks for the immortality of the soul. It is not peculiarly a Christian belief, as the resurrection of the body, but pagans everywhere have believed man to be immortal. The race as such consents to this article of religious faith.

"Scripture assures us that man has to do with a future state and that, immediately upon the death of the body. When we read 'Because I live ye shall live also,' Christ was referring not to endless being, but to the gospel promise of eternal life. Life in the gospel sense is blissful immortality. It means fellowship with God, and is so defined.

Gospel life treats of spiritual life and not of ceaseless being. It does not discuss the nature of the soul, but the soul in its relation to God. The redemptive work of Christ was not to perpetuate us, but to remove from us the penalty of our sins, and to glorify us with the life of God.

"If the word of God in presenting spiritual life does not discuss man as an entity but man as a sinner, does the word of God in presenting spiritual death discuss man as an entity? Let us see. Where do we find the scriptures bearing upon man's death? Are they set forth over against the thought of existence or the thought of eternal life? See John iii:14-16. Faith is seen in these passages to secure not existence—we have that without faith—but eternal life. Then it follows that to perish cannot mean ceasing to be, but a condition imposed by God upon the soul for not believing in Christ. The thought of annihilation or the soul petering out is foreign to the scriptures."

IRISH LAND ACT.

Landlords Boost the Price to Prohibitive Heights—Sales of Estates Ceasing.

[Philadelphia Press:] The Irish land purchase act, by means of which the Balfour ministry expected to solve what is known as the Irish problem, has turned out a failure. Amendments are pending in Parliament, and if adopted much better results may be expected; but so far as settling the discontent in Ireland is concerned, the idea has been abandoned. Instead of supporting the government, the Irish members have voted regularly against it since the law became operative. Sales of estates have naturally ceased and a condition reached where practically nothing can be done without further legislation. Agreements of sale were reached in the case of 135 estates chiefly small properties.

The landlords are blamed for this condition of things, and apparently with reason. The trouble grows out of the high prices demanded. Under the land act, which this one succeeds, provision was made for a land court finally to determine the price. There is no such provision in the new law and high prices are demanded. In discussing the matter in Parliament a member related one case within his own constituency concerning which the owner agreed, under the old law, to sell at eighteen years' rental. The tenants agreed to pay the price, but the land court, on inquiry, refused to allow the sale to be consummated, on the ground that the price was too high, and that the land was not good security for so large a sum. But under the new law, when the tenants renewed their offer of eighteen years' rental, the landlord refused to sell for less than twenty-five years' rental claiming that the increased demand for real estate warranted the demand.

It is such unwarranted demands that have made the new law a failure. In reality, property in Ireland is decreasing rather than increasing in value. It looks as though the landlords would have themselves to blame, as usual for any future land troubles in Ireland.

Siberia As it is.

Since the opening of the trans-Caspian and trans-Siberian railways, several books have been written on Siberia by Colquhoun, Fraser and others, and those who have read them have had their eyes opened as to Siberia, and have learned that, contrary to the old notion, it is very far from being a place of ice, snow, storms, wolves and misery. Mr. Fraser takes special pains to poke fun at the old-fashioned idea of Siberia, as created and diffused by the old-time magazines, geographies and illustrated papers. In the first chapter of his book he presents a picture entitled "Travel in Siberia," taken from an old geography published in the '70's. The illustration shows a forest of conifers, with the ground covered with snow, while a blinding blizzard is seen raving on every hand. In the center of this picture are two travelers in a sleigh, who, with drawn revolvers in their hands, are fighting off a pack of ferocious wolves, one of which, more bold than the rest, is trying to climb into the sleigh. The next picture is a photograph taken on the dining car of the Moscow and Vladivostok express as it is rolling under a full head of steam into Irkutsk, and bears the title "Siberian Travel as It Is." The windows of the car are open, the sun is shining, the birds are singing in the trees, the blue waters of Lake Baikal are gleaming in the sunshine, Russians are drinking vodka and tea at the buffet, and nowhere is there so much as the faintest suggestion of cold, convicts or wolves.

It is from such truth-telling books as these that one learns the true state of Siberia. It is only along the coast wolves are troublesome. Manchuria has a climate like that of Illinois, while in many parts of Southern Siberia cotton is a staple crop. As for wolves, they are such cowardly creatures that the Kirghiz ride them down and kill them with their whips.—[Pittsburgh Press.

Salt Water for Navy Fires.

The fact may not be generally known that the New York navy yard has a thorough equipment of salt water mains for fighting fire. The proportion of salt water to fresh or city water mains is about two to one; or, to put it in another way; the salt water mains in the yard comprise about two-thirds of the total. In every building there is fresh water, with hose connections, and an additional supply of the latter for outside use in case it is needed. There are two hose carts which can be run to any part of the yard in a few minutes' time, in case the hose in the buildings where a possible fire might break out should proove insufficient to meet the needs of the occasion. The navy yard, however, does not depend upon its own system wholly, and when a fire does occur the city fire department is called up as well as the bluejackets and marines on duty. There are four electric pumps in the power house which maintain a constant pressure of fifty pounds on the salt water mains, but which is slightly diminished when it reaches the hydrant. This pressure can be raised to 100 pounds, and with such a force as this a stream of water can be thrown over any building in the yard.—[Army and Navy Journal.

HEALTH NOTICE!

THE CONSUMPTIVE'S ROOM.

Rely Upon Platt's Chlorides as the proper disinfectant.

A duster, particularly that potent distributor of germs, the feather duster, should never be used in the room habitually occupied by a consumptive. The floor, woodwork and furniture should be wiped with a cloth moistened with a mixture of Platt's Chlorides and water (one part to eight.) If carpeted the floor should be well sprinkled with this dilution before sweeping. The cuspidor should be washed out daily with boiling water and a mixture of one part Platt's Chlorides and four parts water kept constantly in it to receive the sputum. This disinfectant is a colorless liquid and when diluted and sprinkled about leaves no stain or smell while it instantly removes any foul odors and destroys disease-breeding matter. A quart bottle will last an average family a month and it can be obtained at all druggists and high-class grocers.

UPS AND DOWNS.

Among the horticulturists of California it is almost always either a feast or a famine. Either they are adding, in a satisfactory manner, to their bank accounts, making improvements to their attractive cottage residences, laying in a new stock of up-to-date implements and machinery, not to speak of a buggy, or perhaps even a "run-about," or else, on the other hand, they are in the dumps, and making arrangements with a friendly storekeeper to carry them over a season.

An Orange county paper states that potatoes are getting so scarce in that locality that it looks as if "spuds" would soon be regarded as a luxury, to be eaten only by the rich. The price has already reached the high figure of 2 cents a pound, or $40 a ton, and from present prospects it looks as if that price might climb up another cent before the new crop of potatoes comes in. The local output is almost exhausted, and in order to keep up their stocks dealers are getting potatoes from Oregon and from the northern part of the State. This, of course, adds quite considerably to the price, as the railroad companies always see to it that they obtain a fair share of the plunder on any crop that has to be moved from one part of the country to another under stress of unfavorable seasons. There is a time-honored story among old-timers in Southern California about a man who went to a local railroad agent, in a season when potatoes were a glut on the market here, while in Arizona they were selling at something like three cents a pound. When he inquired how much it would cost to ship a carload of potatoes to the sun-kissed Territory, the agent promptly asked him how much they were worth down there. The farmer did not quite see what this had to do with the subject of hauling "spuds" from one part of Uncle Sam's domain to another, but he replied that the tubers were reported to be worth 3 cents a pound at Yuma. He was then further asked how much they were worth here, and was told that all they would bring was about 50 cents a hundred. The agent thereupon told him to call around tomorrow, and he would make him a rate. On appearing promptly the next day, he was told that the matter had been taken under careful consideration, and the conclusion arrived at that $2.25 per hundred pounds would be about a fair rate of transportation, as that would leave a profit of 25 cents—less drayage and miscellaneous expenses—to the shipper, and only about $2 net to the railroad company. It is not stated whether the shipper accepted this liberal offer.

This story may even be apocryphal, but it serves to illustrate a method that has been very common among some of the transportation companies operating in the West, a custom that has tended to a great extent to discourage enterprise on the part of the tillers of the soil, in introducing new crops, and developing new markets for their products. A promising little industry—the raising of castor beans for the manufacture of oil—was killed in this way, some twenty years ago, in the lower San Joaquin Valley, where, after a couple of successful seasons, the railroad company suddenly discovered that castor beans were worth considerably more than wheat, and thereupon put up the freight rate on them to a figure that left little margin to the growers.

However, to return to our muttons—or rather, to our potatoes. The reason for this condition of affairs in Orange county appears to be that during the past two years potatoes have been a drug on the market, and the price obtainable for any but the choicest was so small that it did not pay to grow them. Thus the strange condition is brought about, as a Santa Ana paper says, that one of the greatest potato-growing districts in the State finds itself lacking seed and will have to supply the want by purchasing from northern farmers.

As intimated in the opening paragraph of this article, there is nothing new in this apparently abnormal condition of affairs, so far as California is concerned. As many as fifty years ago, potatoes had been selling one year at an exceedingly high price, and people were induced to plant thousands of acres the following season. The result was, that after these potatoes were harvested they could be bought for about the cost of the sacks.

So it has been in California, all along the line, ever since horticulture became an important industry. It has been a boom in prunes, or almonds, or raisins, or olives, or ramie, or cenaigre, or some other one of the numerous crops that have from time to time awakened anticipations of great fortunes in the mind of the California farmer. Then have come perhaps one or two adverse seasons, from various causes, when either the crop or the price realized has been poor—or perhaps sometimes both—and away goes the crop, to be supplanted in turn by something else.

All this is radically wrong, and shows that it is time for the tiller of the soil in California to get rid of some of the gambling spirit that he has inherited from those who came here to dig, not for the raising of crops, but for nuggets of gold. It is all right for those who are wealthy to gamble in the planting of a certain crop, for the chance of a big winning, because they can afford to lose, but the average farmer, who expects to make his living from the soil, should first of all endeavor to raise as nearly as possible all that he and his family need in the way of food products. If he does that and attends to his business and is not burdened with a mortgage he can afford to view with comparative equanimity poor seasons, and poor prices, and wait until the silver lining of the cloud shows up again, as it almost always does, in course of time.

These remarks are not claimed to be strictly original. In fact they—or some like them—have been made, by this and other California papers, over and over again during the past quarter of a century. It will do no harm, however, and may accomplish some good, to repeat them, once in a while.

THEIR THUNDER LOST.

Since the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States has been rendered in the Northern Securities "merger" case, the Democratic party at large, and more particularly so in spots, seems to have relapsed into a deep, dull silence. If there was one issue above all others that the Democracy had fastened upon as its very own it was the trust problem. But now even that has been taken away from it. Thus the only thunder that the Democrats thought themselves in possession of has been silenced by the guns of the opposition.

The action taken by President Roosevelt and his administration, which culminated in the decision mentioned, furnishes ample proof, if any proof were needed, that the true interests of the people are still in the safest hands possible. There can be no fear that unlawful combinations of any kind, whether of capital or otherwise, will be permitted. The laws as they exist are being rigidly enforced and the country's welfare is being carefully conserved. The lawful interests of large and necessary corporations, which, instead of being a menace to the people, are vastly to their benefit, stand in no dread of President Roosevelt, his Cabinet or the Republican Congress. The rights of capital and the rights of free, independent labor will both be protected—the right of the one to conduct its own business in its own way, under the law, and the right of the other to dispose of itself in the open market as it may deem best, untrammeled and unawed by professional agitators and jawsmiths. That is the platform upon which the President and the Republican party stand, and it is a platform quite to the liking of a tremendous majority of fair-minded and patriotic Americans.

NATIONAL BANKS AND PROSPERITY.

There have been organized since the passage of the act of March 14, 1900, 1888 new national banks, with an authorized capital of $110,058,600. These figures include the additions for the month of February, 1904, during which period thirty-five national banks were added to the system. Of the total since the passage of the act referred to, nearly two-thirds—1235, to be exact—have been banks with a capital of less than $50,000 each, and most of these have been organized in the Middle Western, Western and Southern States.

These figures indicate national prosperity and emphasize the prosperity and rapid advancement of certain sections of the country. The fact that the majority of the new national banks consists of small institutions, suggests at once the increasing prosperity of small communities, which depend in chief measure upon farming districts, embryo manufacturing towns and similar places inhabited by persons of small or moderate means.

The most significant and gratifying feature behind these figures is the steady improvement in the condition of the lower classes. If statistics could be had they would probably show that a large percentage of the small banks have been organized by local men, who have profited sufficiently through the increased business of their community to enable them to launch an enterprise of this kind not alone for their own continued profit, but for the accommodation of their neighbors, who, for the first time in their lives, perhaps, are accumulating more than can properly be entrusted to the keeping of the old stocking under the mattress.

The figures quoted also show the very substantial foundation of the nation's prosperity. Wall street has "gone to smash" time and again; vast industrial "combines" involving hundreds of millions of dollars have been wrecked by individual dishonesty; the industrial life of the nation has been deeply injured by the unwarranted aggression of unionism; and there have been divers terrific financial and commercial upheavals. But notwithstanding all this, the prosperity of the country has not been impaired; its progress has not been stopped; its commercial greatness stands out more prominent with each new day. These things are forced upon our attention by their very magnitude; but we are inclined to overlook the little things which make these great things possible, and which save the country from serious damage when vast enterprises make for failure instead of success.

There is an ancient belief in the financial world, entertained to some extent today, that panics recur at stated intervals. Financial trouble, like any other, can usually be found if diligently sought; and it is as true that it can be in large measure avoided if the possibility of it is dismissed from the mind. It may be fairly said that the United States has reached a point in development that precludes the possibility of further serious panics. There will always be periods of comparative depression in every country; but barring the entrance of the United States into some unforeseen and unpreventable world complication, and assuming that we are to be allowed to pursue our adopted national policies, there is small possibility that this country will ever suffer further financial upheavals of damaging extent.

The foundations of our present prosperity, laid as they are among the class of greatest consumers, as well as among the class of great wealth, and the rapid and material development of the Middle West, the West and the South, as reflected in the figures above quoted, are so solidly built that it would require an extraordinary force, beyond anything that may reasonably be expected, to shake them. Our country's progress has acquired a momentum which will enable us to safely override possible obstacles of no greater extent than those met in the past, and which will carry the nation to tremendous and almost incalculable commercial achievements.

MUSIC AND MUSICIANS

Storck-Ritchie Recital.

This afternoon at the Woman's Club House, Peje Storck, pianist, and Herbert Ritchie, vollinist, will present to the music lovers of this city the first sonata matinee ever given here. Mr. Storck and Mr. Ritchie need no introduction to Los Angeles people. They are consummate artists. The educational features of their programme are wonderful from a students' point of view, and sufficiently entertaining for those who are not students. Seats are now on sale at the Union Pacific ticket office.

Kilties' Farewell.

Last night the Kilties Band concluded its engagement in this city at Hazard's Pavilion with a programme that was made unusually attractive by a local innovation. This feature was the appearance of Miss Catherin Warde, a Canadian contralto who is now living in Los Angeles. Miss Warde favored her old friends, the Kilties, and gave pleasure to the audience by singing two solos, "The Holy City" and "Comin' Thro' the Rye," the latter in response to an urgent encore. Miss Warde was formerly with the Daly Opera Company.

PHILIPPINE SHIPPING.

Provisions of Frye Bill Have Peculiar Features.

Present Laws Would Destroy Profitable Trade.

Over Four Thousand Boats Are Engaged.

BY ALONZO H. STEWART.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, March 15.—The question of shipping between the Philippines and Japan and the Philippines and the United States has come in for considerable discussion at this session of Congress.

The prosperity of the Philippine Islands is in a very great measure dependent upon the shipping facilities of its inter-island trade and whatever measure encourages or depresses that carrying trade, to a like degree will build up or tear down the agricultural and commercial interests of the islands.

The discussion of the so-called Frye Shipping Bill, which aims to place the carrying trade between the Philippine Islands and the United States exclusively in the hands of American ships, has made but little reference to the inter-island trade of the Philippines, and there apparently exists a great want of information concerning its present condition and needs. Unless some action is taken by Congress, the American coastwise laws will be automatically extended over the inter-island trade of the Philippines after the first of July next, and yet if the Frye bill passes this inter-island trade will be opened to the ships of the world, subject only to such regulations as the Philippine Commission may prescribe. There is one peculiar feature about the provisions of the Frye bill. Under it, Philippine ships are prohibited from participating in the carrying trade between the United States and the Philippines, for the reason that, as the inhabitants of the Philippines are not "citizens of the United States," so the ships of the Philippines having a Philippine register are not ships of the United States, and as this trade is confined to "vessels of the United States," the people of the Philippines will be prevented from participating in the carrying trade of their own products between their own ports and those of the United States.

Last summer while in the Philippine Islands I had an opportunity to travel on, I think, every style of boat used in the archipelago, from the electric-lighted regular liner of the Companie Maritima to the dugout banka and binta of the Moros of Lake Llanoa in Mindanao. I had an opportunity of discussing the application of the shipping laws to the Philippine inter-island trade, not only with the government officials, but with John T. Macleod, the head of captains and officers if the Philippine boats, most of whom are either Spaniards or Filipinos. Mr. Macleod informed me that should no legislation be enacted by this Congress, all vessels now engaged in the inter-island trade of the Philippines would come under the provisions of the American coastwise laws, and this would practically kill the shipping interests of the Philippines, for even if the Philippines ships are construed to be "American ships for the purpose of inter-island trade in the Philippines," yet their officers, being either Spaniards or Filipinos, are not, according to the definition of Congress, "American," and so could not command and take charge of these boats. "It is absolutely impossible," he said, "to get a sufficient number of Americans to take the places of these Spanish and Philippine trained seamen, and even if we could, it would be unsafe, because the Philippine archipelago is but very imperfectly charted, and the safety of our vessels depends upon the knowledge acquired by lifelong service of our officers. And again, it would be unfair to these officers, most of whom are Spaniards or Filipinos and have accepted the sovereignty of the United States, for under this law they would be unable longer to continue in their profession."

Mr. Macleod then went on to discuss the necessity of establishing a system of inter-island coastwise lines whereby the coasting trade of the Philippines should be confined to vessels having a Philippine registry and to vessels of the United States. "A Philippine registry," he said, "should be granted only to those vessels which on the first of July next are actually engaged in this inter-island trade and to vessels built and owned either in the Philippine Islands or the United States. It is not fair to allow the North German Lloyd steamers with their Chinese crews, nor the regular Australian liners, nor the steamers owned by the Chinese, with their low-priced crews, to participate in this trade to our detriment, when they pay no taxes other than their license, and we have to pay heavy taxes. The same principle should be applied to the Philippine inter-island trade as is applied to the American coastwise trade. As the American coastwise traue is for the Americans, so the Philippine coastwise trade should be for the Filipinos."

I had an excellent opportunity to see vessels of the coastwise trade in the trip from Manila down through the Visayan group to Jolo and clear to the east side of the great island of Mindanao and return, occupying nearly six weeks. Our boat, the Butujuan, had in her captain as brave a Spaniard as ever sailed the sea and a fair representative of what the old Spanish mariners may have been. For his bravery during two desperate encounters with the Moros on the south side of Mindanao, he had been decorated by the King of Spain. He had taken Philippine and Spanish vessels into practically every port on the European continent and into the American ports of Boston, New York, Philadelphia and Galveston and yet under our policy in the Philippines this man is now allowed a master's license only for the Philippine Islands and nowhere else, and after the first of July next he will be unable to command any vessel at all. His first officer, a young man, had taken a vessel to Brunswick, Ga., with a cargo of lumber and yet he could not obtain a first officer's paper except for use in the Philippines. He, too, will be out of a job after July next. Their only remedy is to renounce their allegiance to the United States and return to Spain or else come to the United States and in some way, under some law not yet passed (for there is no way for Filipinos to be naturalized, and these men, in the eyes of the law, are Filipinos,) become naturalized citizens of the United States, in which case they will then be entitled to American papers. These men could not understand why the United States would not give them the same papers that they had obtained from Spain, and I had great difficulty in persuading them that the United States was in reality a friend to the Philippines and the Filipinos when it came to shipping matters. The crew of this vessel was all Filipino, and, indeed, the crews of all the Philippine vessels are all Filipinos, for they make the finest kind of sailors, being natural sea dogs. No one ever heard of a Filipino drowning.

The number of men employed as sailors and fishermen in the Islands is estimated at between 3000 and 4000, and this number when taken in connection with the great number of stevedores will account for the occupation of a very large proportion of the male population of the islands.

The comforts which a Spanish boat affords are not such as would induce many Europeans to take the trip. The cabins are small and stuffy, overrun with small red ants, and all conveniences and comforts conspicuous by their absence. Most of the passengers sleep on deck and all meals are served there, weather permitting. The food, which is Spanish, differs so entirely from that on the American boats that white people, especially foreigners and Americans, unused to the fare, almost starve to death when on one of these trips. A cup of coffee and a roll at seven o'clock, is the breakfast. Dinner, or lunch at eleven o'clock consists of soup, several kinds of fish, meat, usually kid and chicken prepared in three or four different styles.

Contrary to my expectations I found but little pepper or garlic used in the cooking. Everything, however, is swimming in oil and vegetables are always cooked along with the meats. Wine and coffee are the two drinks, water being but sparingly used, unless mixed with the wine. The quantity of wine consumed is comparatively small. Dinner at six o'clock is a repetition of the noon meal only more elaborate, after which liquors are served. While on this trip I saw the North German Lloyd steamers stop in for large cargoes of cattle and hemp from the small ports in south Mindanao to be delivered at Iloilo and Manila. Regular Australian liners stop at Jolo and Zamboanga and Iloilo, taking coastwise cargoes for Manila while en route to Hongkong; Chinese boats from Hongkong to Iloilo and Cebu and then to Manila and back to Hongkong, carrying the hemp and sugar from the two lower ports to Manila, and yet none of these boats paid any taxes except a temporary license fee.

In discussing the question with the merchants as well as with the shipowners I found that for freight business, and the coastwise freight consists principally of hemp, copra, rice and supplies, there are enough boats in the Philippine inter-island trade today. As for the passenger trade a more rapid service is necessary but since American occupation the facilities with which people can get around the islands would have decreased but for the fact that the government transports and coastwise boats are allowed to carry passengers when necessary. In Spanish times the Spanish government paid a mail subsidy which made the passenger service between the large ports in the Philippines very good and most of the Spanish government freight was carried on commercial steamers, but the Philippine government pays nothing for the carrying of mail, the army transports and Philippine government coast guard boats are mail boats and in addition they handle all army and Philippine government freight. All Philippine commercial steamers are required to carry the mail for nothing, while at the same time they handle little or no government freight. It is claimed by those interested in the shipping business that if the government paid for a regular mail line and prohibited the passenger traffic on government boats, the passenger and freight facilities would be very much increased and improved.

The passage of the Hale Bill through the Senate which provides that government freight shall be carried only in vessels of the United States, if it becomes a law is going to have a disastrous effect upon the government business in the Philippine Islands for the reason that the government has a number of foreign boats chartered for the carrying of government freight. These boats are all officered and manned by foreigners. Two boats in particular I recall, one the Borneo, a small boat with English and Scotch officers and a lascar crew. The boat has an English register. Another one is the Doctor Hans Jergesen, facetiously known as the Krag Jorgeson. It is a Norwegian freighter with a Norwegian captain and a mixed crew of lascars, Chinese and Filipinos, having a speed of nine knots an hour for which the government pays $190 per day. As Philippine vessels are not "vessels of the United States," none of the vessels owned or built in the Philippine Islands can be chartered by the government for the carrying of this freight and it will be necessary to bring boats from America, with American officers and crews to replace those now in use by the government.

According to the Bureau of Insular Affairs, the number of boats engaged in the Philippine inter-island traffic is over 4000, having a tonnage in round numbers of 144,000 tons, and of that number only twenty-two vessels were built in the United States and 3847 were built in the Philippines, with the exception of the twenty-two American built boats none of this fleet can participate in the carrying of government freight. Unless congressional action is taken, one of two things will happen: Either the law must be ignored, or else all these vessels will have to obtain American masters and officers, which being impossible, they will be driven out of commission.

Confessed to a Hairdresser.

Among the ladies of Arco, near Lake Garda, there is trouble. Their hitherto cadilloes have been taken to the confessional, but in the box was not a priest but a hairdresser's assistant. He does not have a reputation for loose morals. Consternation covers Arco with confusion.

It was typical British weather in Arco, rain in torrents, when the ladies trooped into the dimly lighted church to confess. But a wandering hairdresser had also taken refuge from the storm, and, wrapped in his long black cape, he was making himself comfortable in the confessional box.

When the confession began it entered into the spirit of the thing and acted the part of the priest well till many confessions had been made to him did one fair penitent take fright at a strange remark and run to the Sacristan.

The young man also ran, and got away. The police have arrested a probable delinquent, but since he asserts his innocence with vehemence and direct evidence is lacking, they are at a loss how to bring the matter home to him.—[London Mail.

CROWDS HEAR DR. MORGAN.

London Divine Holds First Services of Series.

Exhorts Hearers to a Close Walk With God.

Deep Spirituality and Keen Analysis Shown.

At the conclusion of the Rev. Dr. G. Campbell Morgan's sermon, preached yesterday morning at the First Congregational Church, the general expression was that the succession of workship in the Northfield Extension work had been peculiarly fortunate and telling.

This first service of the Morgan series, which is to be of two weeks' duration, was marked by an attendance and interest indicative of the fact that the old gospel has not lost its power to attract and edify.

With the knowledge that Dr. Morgan had taken up Dwight L. Moody's Northfield Extension work, where the gifted evangelical apostle had laid it down, and that, had Mr. Moody been asked to name his successor, Dr. Morgan would have been his choice,

THE GOLDEN AGE.

can ask how it can be said
curves in any certain direc
have but to refer to the
of history and the attesta

tions of our own hearts for confirmation. There is ever a consciousness of imperfection and a reaching out after the ideal. The Golden Age is in the future, not in the past. Man is forever looking on while God is moving toward some great consummation. Battles may intervene, fierce furnace heat may try the souls of men, the terrors of darkness may prevail for a time, but in the foreground is God's glorious consummation. To walk with God is then to go His way unmindful of environment or experience.

"We may say we are in agreement with God, but possibly discover that we are deceiving ourselves. The face may be Godward, but in the heart there is a secret sin that makes prayer difficult and Bible reading distasteful. It is claimed that the work of the scholars has been responsible for the neglect of the Bible, but there is not a word of truth in the statement. The fact is the book is neglected, because its pages mirror the hearts of man in such a vivid manner those who are not in tune with the Infinite wisely close its pages from view. To walk with God everything that is out of harmony with His plan must be discarded. It is a matter between each individual and God—not, what our neighbor thinks, but what God thinks.

"Again there must be mutual trust. Enoch trusted God and so God trusted Enoch. From Abraham there was nothing hidden; to Moses God revealed His ways. The secrets of the Lord are with them that trust Him. All hinges upon our trust in God. Don't you know that our trust in God often breaks down because of the fear that He is not working. The thought is presented that evil is triumphing, but God has never left His throne. Many of us know just how we would fix things if we were in supreme power. But what a mess we would make of it all. God in His infinite wisdom, long suffering and forbearance, is biding His time, and if there is any fretting to be done, it should be on the part of God. Nor does God want us to make pretenses when the reality is lacking. He don't want us to sing when we can't, but when the clouds are lowering and the burdens seem hard, to bear, He wants us to tell Him, and He will do the rest.

GET AHEAD OF GOD.

"What a blessed privilege it is for us to walk with God. How many get ahead of Him and find every plan frustrated! That is zeal without knowledge. Equal disaster comes to him who lags behind. That is knowledge without zeal. What a time poor Peter had the night of the betrayal. Out of harmony with Christ he tried to make up for the lack of fellowship by an exhibition of zeal, and he struck off Malchus's ear. Had he been under orders a head would have dropped instead of an ear. In replacing that ear Christ rebuked Peter, and feeling the sting Peter dropped behind and disaster came upon him. He followed afar off. Cannot we find a similar condition in the church today? All about us is the clink of machinery. The church is overburdened with organization. A makeshift for fellowship. Oh, that we might appreciate our privilege and keep step with God! How different then would be the accomplishment of the church."

In the evening Dr. Morgan addressed a monster meeting of 1600 people in the Mason Operahouse.

Embroideries at half and less

Now we're ready for the greatest embroidery sale of the season—ready with nearly 5000 yards of 50c to $1.50 embroideries that we bought at a price that lets us say "Take your choice at 35c a yard."

Nainsook and Swiss edges and insertions in no end of beautiful patterns, and all widths from 1½ to 8 inches. The narrow ones are, of course, VERY fine goods.

Floral designs; exquisite open-work patterns; heavy raised embroidery; some in lace patterns including champagne shades in 2 and 4-ruffle effects.

35c for 50c to $1.50 values.

New 35c wash stuffs, today, 25c

NEW stuffs—you'll realize that as soon as you glance at the window display. Closer inspection will show them to be fine cotton voiles of the regular 35c grade. Dresden figures and stripes in medium and dark colorings. 27 inches wide. Fifty pieces of them, but how long do you think they'll hold out?

Other rare values at 25c

All linen suitings in natural and solid colors, showing white flakes, 25c yd.

Plain white and fancy corded pique waistings, 25c.

White cheviots, etc., in damask effects, stripes and brocades, 25c.

PROF. VON HECK,
WORLD'S GREATEST PSYCHIC PALMIST,
115½ S. BROADWAY, LOS ANGELES.
PHONE JAMES 9141.

This wonderful man tells every wish of your life; how to be successful in business; shows you the way to prosperity; tells you whether you will succeed in mining or prospecting; in fact, no matter what may be your fear, hope or ambition, call on this gifted man. At a glance, before you have a chance to utter one word, he will tell you what you call for; describing to you your friends and enemies are as real as though they stood right before you. VON HECK tells you everything, good or bad; you hear the truth, and nothing but the truth.

There is about him no air of mysticism, no tinselled stars, no Egyptian robes, no dark-room scenes, no burning incense, and no imposition.

Absolute satisfaction his best and ONLY advertisement. This week his famous $1 life reading for $1.

FOR SALE—
Beach Property.

FOR SALE—
We invite the attention of persons having money to invest to the following proposition, which we think is one of unusual merit.
We own a beautiful beach, on the Coast Line of the Southern Pacific Railway. It is the only beach possessing attractive features between Santa Barbara and Monterey. The property has lain dormant for the past twenty years, but has recently been surveyed and subdivided into about 900 lots. None of these lots have been offered for sale though the owners have been requested many times to sell some of them. They have not cared to make any sales until certain improvements were made and the whole property put in a shape to handle to advantage.
There is a 30-room hotel building, which can be modernized and enlarged at a comparatively small cost; there are also two stores, a postoffice, a telephone station, a large feed barn and several small cottages which belong with the property. The beach lies in a protected bay, is a natural townsite, and no more beautiful location for a beach resort can be imagined. Hundreds of people make this spot their Mecca during the summer months, many coming from the interior valleys, as well as from places nearer by.
A small outlay would put this beach in a condition so that lots could be sold during the coming season.
The owners have decided to put this property on the market and will either sell it as a whole, or will form a stock company or syndicate to handle it, and in either of the above cases, the property will be put in at a price at which all can make money, and not a dollar. We solicit inquiry either by letter or personally, at our office, 319-320 Douglas Bldg., Los Angeles, Cal.

Plate Glass Window a Curiosity.

Every day, at No. 63 San Francisco street, a large crowd of people can be seen inspecting a new wonder in Porto Rico. The attraction is nothing less than a real full-sized plate-glass window, such as is seen in show windows in the stores in the United States. It is the only one in Porto Rico. There are a half dozen glass windows in this city, mostly on San Francisco street, but none except this new one is a full-sized plate-glass window.—[San Juan News.

ACCIDENT OR SUICIDE?

Cattleman Griffen's Tragic Death Near Indio.

Cut to Pieces by the Train on Which He Was Riding.

Was Acting Queerly Just Before the Tragedy.

Passengers on the Southern Pacific Overland train from the East, due at Los Angeles at 11 o'clock yesterday morning, but which did not arrive until 4 in the afternoon, brought news of a mysterious tragedy resulting in the death, in a horrible manner, of one of their fellow-travelers, D. D. Griffen, a well-known cattleman of California.

Griffen was ground to death under the wheels of the train, two miles east of Indio.

Opinion is divided as to whether he fell from the train accidentally or deliberately threw himself under the trucks.

His strange conduct on the train and remarks made to acquaintances just prior to the tragedy, give color to the suicide theory.

HE ACTED QUEERLY.

Griffen, with other passengers, left Imperial, where he had been staying lately, at 3 o'clock in the morning, and was supposed to be coming to Los Angeles. He kept his actual destination secret, however, telling friends whom he met on the train that he was going to get off at the next station. It was always "at the next station," that he was going to get off, and his friends believed he was jollying them.

As the train was nearing Indio, Griffen, who was riding in the smoking car, handed the train newsboy a letter, stamped and sealed and addressed to his brother, Fred Griffen, No. 624 Post street, San Francisco. He requested

RACING ENDS IN FEW WEEKS.

LONG SHOTS EXPECTED TO WIN FREQUENTLY.

Past Week Was Marked by Victories of Nine Horses at Long Prices and More Will Come in During the Next Ten Days—Good Card Offered Today.

With but three weeks more of racing at Ascot Park the long shots may be expected to be "shooed in" this week and next; for feed bills must be paid some way and there is no possible way for "outsiders" to pay expenses unless they can run first or second. This possibility will have a bad effect on the favorites and those who play the races must necessarily figure on what is "due."

The past week has seen a number of surprises, and while some of the sports profited, the majority of them went to the bad on account of the victory of horses that could not be figured to have a chance. Last Monday Mr. Robinson, at 12 to 1, and Susie Christian, at 8 to 1, won very easily. On Tuesday Hindoo Princess and Jingler, at 8 to 1, came across, and on Wednesday Lady Usk, at 8 to 1, and Dollie Weithoff, at 16 to 1, were victors. The big "astonishment" of the week, however, came on Thursday, when Agnes Mack, opening at 6 to 1 and closing at 40 in some books, led from start to finish, and later in the day Merwan did the same thing at 8 to 1. The good thing on Friday was Col. Bogey, at 6 to 1, and on Saturday, Invictus, at 4 to 1. All these only show the probability of racing, and many more good things may be expected this week.

TODAY'S RACES.

The card for today is very good, and the feature of it, if there is one, will be a five-furlong race which has ten entries, chief among them being Golden Rule, Crusados, Nervator and Pat Bulger. These four should do some sprinting satisfactory to any sport for the distance is just right for them. The card is as follows:

First race—Selling, one mile:

RAG TAG'S RECORD.

WAS A GOOD ONE ONCE.

For the information of some of the sports as to what the horse, Rag Tag, now at Ascot Park, has done, or might do, it should be remembered that he holds the world's record for running seven and a half furlongs, having made the distance in 1:32 1-5. This race was run at Washington Park, Chicago, on July 1, 1903, and the weight was 104 pounds.

BLUE ROCK SHOOT.

GUN CLUB MEMBERS' SPORT.

A dozen members of the Los Angeles Gun Club had some great sport yesterday shooting blue rocks on the club grounds west of this city, and notwithstanding th ecold, cloudy weather, the scores made were very good. Vaughn made the only clean score. There were five events at twenty-five birds each, and the scores were as follows:

WOMEN'S GOLF.

FINALS END TODAY.

The final of the women's Southern California golf championship will be played this afternoon over the course of the Pasadena Country Club and a large crowd of spectators is assured. The contestants for the honor will be Miss Elizabeth Robertson of Illinois and Miss Florence Borden of Massachusetts, who have worked themselves down to the final after defeating a number of good players. Miss Robertson is a member of the Springfield, Ill., club, and is said to be the champion of the State. She certainly showed her class on Saturday by beating Miss Ada Smith of San Diego in the semi-finals.

COLLEGE BASEBALL.

POMONA BOYS ACTIVE.

College baseball is booming at Pomona, and the boys in that section are promising very warm games for the teams who will meet Pomona this spring. A squad of Pomona men is out on the diamond every night for practice and working hard for a place on the 'varsity team this year. Of last year's team the following are candidates for places this year: Reed, catcher; B. Wharton, pitcher; Taylor, first base; Noble, second base; T. Cadwalader, shortstop; Parks, left field; M. Cadwalader, center field; Robb, right field. The following new men who attended other colleges last year, are also trying for first-team places; Ainsworth and Nichols of Harvard School, catcher and pitcher; Salisbury, Occidental, center field; Moore, Thatcher School, catcher.

The following schedule of games has been arranged for the Pomona team:

March 25, Ontario at Claremont.
April 23, Los Angeles High at Claremont.
April 30, Throop at Claremont.
May 7, Occidental at Los Angeles.
May 14, St. Vincent at Claremont.
May 21, Occidental at Pomona.
May 28, St. Vincent at Los Angeles.

BOWLING NOW ON THE WANE.

SPORT IS ENJOYING A REST AFTER BUSY SEASON.

Next Event of Importance is a Trio Tournament to be Conducted Jointly by Eight Alley Managers and Success is Already Assured—High Scores of Past Week.

With the return of spring, bowling has taken a slump and judging from appearances it will not be prominent as an active sport for some time to come. Like all other sports it has its ups and downs, but may revive to its old-time importance.

The only scheduled event of interest in the near future is a Class B trio tournament which will be commenced next week. The play will be on the Monarch, Belmont, Sunnyside, Oaks and Maple alleys of this city and the Ocean Park, Long Beach and Pasadena alleys and entries can be made at any of these. No one is barred whose average is under 170.

The alley managers have joined hands and they propose to make this tournament the most successful of any that has been given in this city.

C. W. Maxon is one of the best and most consistent bowlers in this end of the State and while he bowls merely for the exercise and enjoyment to be had, his work shows that he is about as good as any of the semi-professional players in the city. One day last week on the Monarch alleys he bowled ten games with an average of 189 1-10, which is very good. In one of these games he made the 5-4-7 split and the 5-6-10 split in another, these being the two most difficult splits on the alley.

The Pasadena alleys seem to have taken a new lease of life under the management of O. Blattner and from the way the various bowlers are working, it seems that high scores will hereafter be the rule rather than the exception.

HIGH SCORES.

The tenpin play on the various alleys during the past week has been up to the average and even better in some instances as the following high scores will show:

PASADENA ALLEYS.

Gus Oberg, 210, 203, 202, 207, 244; Platt, 202, 201; Wolf, 203, 204, 200, 204, 227, 203, 202; Blattner, 201, 212, 227, 228, 203, 227; Legge, 204, 201, 205; Coty, 211, 233, 220; F. Pierce, 205; Lacey, 200, 214, 226, 210, 216.

Fourback—C. A. Wilson, 62.
Cocked hat—C. A. Wilson, 42.
Duckpins—Willis, 117.

COLLEGE BASKET BALL.

POMONA HAS CHAMPIONSHIP.

CLAREMONT, March 20.—In a hotly contested game of basketball Pomona College won from Occidental by the close score of 19 to 15. The Occidental girls showed splendid team work, but were outdone by the endurance of Pomona's co-eds. The game was close in every particular and toward the end of the game, the playing increased in speed and grew tremendously exciting, the large crowd of Pomona rooters cheering wildly. The score was tie clear through the game until the last three or four minutes.

For Occidental, Misses Means, Brooke and Brookman played the best game; Miss Gordon as center played a strong game.

For Pomona, Miss Kendall (capta'n) at center held her team well together and played a fine game from start to finish. The goal throwing of Misses Thomas and Hagens, Pomona's forwards, was the most spectacular part of the game.

As the Occidental team has beaten U.S.C. by a score of 9 to 5, this victory for Pomona gives her the intercollegiate championship.

BICYCLING.

The unsettled weather for the past month has had a deterrent effect on the hopes of the bicyclists, but with the possibility of clear weather in April, some of the wheelmen have begun to talk of a century road race over the Pomona course, and if present plans do not miscarry there will be such a race next month. F. Florentine, the winner of four "century" prizes in the last five years, is keeping himself in condition for the coming event, and considering the material in sight, there does not seem to be much fear that he will lose the race.

BALL SEASON NEAR OPENING.

FIRST GAMES TO BE PLAYED NEXT THURSDAY.

Los Angeles and Oakland Will Start the Play Here, San Francisco and Seattle at San Francisco and Tacoma and Portland at Fresno. Parade of Autos on Opening Day.

Los Angeles will be a good place to live in after this week, according to the baseball cranks, for the long season of 1904 will begin next Thursday. This means a big lot of both pleasure and pain to a large number of people in this city, for Los Angeles is about the best baseball town on the Coast. Commencing next Thursday they will slowly crawl out of the holes in which they have been hibernating for the past three months and proceed to enjoy life.

It would be impossible to forecast the pennant-winning team of the coming season, but the local fans hope, of course, that it will be Los Angeles. The local team is in good shape apparently, although a few of the men have not had sufficient practice to limber them up. The majority of the players can play championship ball right now and the others will do better as the season advances. As a matter of fact, however, Morley's team should play consistent, winning ball from the start, for with the two exceptions of Second Baseman Flood and Center Fielder Bernard, the team is the same as it was last year. This is a big advantage because it is team play that wins the most games, and the Looloos will go into the season with this handicap over the other clubs.

The usual blow-out will mark the opening day next Thursday, and all the fans will certainly be on hand to witness the festivities. The season will be opened with a parade by automobiles through the principal streets of the city. It will start from the City Hall at 1 o'clock, and in the procession will be the Mayor, city and county officials, a band and the ball players of Los Angeles and Oakland. It is desired to bring out as many automobiles as possible, and every owner of an auto in the parade with his machine will be a special guest of the management, will be admitted free to grounds and grand stand, and will be given a box seat, but no beer.

Oakland will open the season here for the first week, and the Looloos will play here five weeks. San Francisco and Seattle will open the season at San Francisco and Portland, and Tacoma will play at Fresno for the first four weeks, as it will be impracticable to play in the Northwest for some time yet.

PRETZEL WINS.

At Bakersfield yesterday afternoon the Oakland and Portland teams of the Pacific Coast League played a match game which the Oaklands won very easily by the score of 6 to 1. Pretzel Schmidt was in the box for Oakland and always held the Portland people at arm's length. Portland made its only run on a hit and steal by Nadeau and a single by Beck. The batteries were Schmidt and Boettiger for Oakland and Shields and Thielman for Portland.

MINOR BASEBALL.

After winning thirteen straight games the Compton High School team was beaten at Compton on Saturday by the Los Angeles High School club in an exciting eleven-inning game, the score being 6 to 5. The game was a pitchers' battle, and although the Los Angeles pitcher could not keep his opponents from making hits, he struck out five men and did not walk any. The batteries were Menardi and Snodgrass for Los Angeles, and Abbott and Butchsch for Compton.

The M. A. Newmark team defeated the Haas-Baruch club at Fiesta Park yesterday morning by a score of 11 to 8.

The Trilby nine, the well-known colored organization of this city, has been reorganized, and would like to play any out-of-town club. The Trilbys have been strengthened by a number of new players and the manager hopes to win back the amateur championship, which the club held for three years. Challenges should be addressed to William Carroll, No. 143 San Pedro street, Los Angeles.

NORTHERN COURSING.

RECKLESS ACROBAT WINS STAKE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch Reckless Acrobat, who reveled in the sloppy going, won the open stake at Ingleside coursing park today after beating some fair performers and being lucky in his placings. In the final course Acrobat met Homer Boy, but after leading the latter to the hare by three open lengths was lucky to score the flag. Homer Boy shot in after the first turn, but killed before he overcame the margin given to Reckless Acrobat for speed.

Upsets were frequent during the afternoon and the talent had some awful jars. Rector was made a 7-to-1 favorite over Full Moon, but the brindle dog led up and held his own in working, finally scoring a clean kill and winning out. Homer Boy beat Ragged Actor, with odds of 5 to 3 against him, and made a crimp in the bank roll of the talent, which had selected Ragged Actor to win the stake. Full Moon beat Viking by spectacular work in the fourth course.

Sacramento dogs took the big honors in the coursing at Union Park today. The open stake was won by Barge, of George Nethercott's kennel, against Silver Heels, another Sacramento dog. The latter was the favorite in the betting at 2 to 1, and put up a game fight, losing by a score of 6 to 8.

YACHT RACING.

BIG MATCH IN SIGHT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, March 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Some members of the New York Yacht Club are trying to arrange a sweepstakes race across the ocean by the schooner yachts Ingomar, Endymion and Fleur de Lys. It is suggested that the owner of each boat post $5000 and make a three-cornered fight of their over-sea journey, the craft arriving first to take the entire stakes. The three boats are scheduled for the racing season in Mediterranean, English and German waters. The plan as proposed is to have them go over in company. Both the Ingomar and Fleur de Lys are fitting out here for their campaign abroad, and the only drawback to the success of the triple sweepstakes is the improbability of the Endymion getting back here from a West India cruise in time to let her groom for the trans-Atlantic trip and start on an equal footing with the others.

Even with the Endymion out, some of the enthusiastic matchmakers of the New York Yacht Club believe that they will succeed in arranging a contest between the Ingomar and Fleur de Lys. The Ingomar, which is owned by Commodore Morton of The Plant, of the Larchmont Yacht Club, captured all the chief ocean race prizes last season, besides the Astor Cup for schooners and four squadron runs during the New York Yacht Club cruise.

The Fleur de Lys, which is owned by Dr. Lewis A. Stimson, is at her best in a turbulent sea and large airs, and has demonstrated this during several ocean races.

The Endymoin, owned by George Lauder, Jr., holds the cross-Atlantic record of 13 days and 20 hours from Sandy Hook to Southampton, Eng., and has won several exciting ocean races.

BRITT-CORBETT FIGHT.

BIG GATE MONEY ASSURED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 20.—The fight between Young Corbett and Jimmy Britt in this city next Friday night promises to break the local record for attendance. It was given out today that the sale of seats already exceeds $20,000. The boxers have practically finished all of their heavy training and will confine themselves to light exercises hereafter. Interest in the training has been superseded by the discussion on the peculiarity attending the betting, or rather the lack of betting. Not a dollar has been placed with the usual pool sellers. Harry Corbett, who handles most of the money wagered on pugilistic happenings, declares that he has not yet received a bet. Yet at the same time it is known that there is much money ready to be placed. The lack of betting is due to the maneuvering for odds. The Britt men want the short end at 10 to 6, while the Corbett people declare that 10 to 8 would be a fair price. The Corbett people are somewhat disappointed at the situation, as they believed that the local sentiment behind Britt would close up the betting gap, but they have learned that a considerable portion of the San Francisco dollars will be placed on the success of the champion.

Corbett's seconds will be Harry Tuthill, Tim McGrath, Billy Otts and Billy Roche. Britt will have in his corner Spider Kelly, Frank Rafael, Curtis Richardson and "Smiling" Metsner.

ANOTHER FOR CORBETT.

MOWATT NEXT IN LINE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, March 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Young Corbett-Tommy Mowatt fight, which was arranged several days ago, was ratified today, when Harry Pollok, Corbett's manager, arrived in town from New York, en route to San Francisco, to witness the Corbett-Britt fight. Everything pertaining to the match, as previously announced, met with Pollok's favor. He said he would have his protegé here not later than March 31, twenty-four hours before the hour set for the battle.

Pollok has a big commission to bet on Corbett against Britt and will also wager the losing end of the purse on the result. The prevailing price of 10 to 7, he thinks liberal and will, if compelled, take 1 to 2 for his money, so confident is he that the Denver boy will win.

Accompanying Pollok to the Coast is Dr. Craemer, well known in eastern pugilistic circles as the examining physician to all New York and Brooklyn boxing clubs during the Horton law

MUNROE HAS NO CHANCE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, March 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] James J. Corbett said today: "I taught Jeffries the first he knew of fighting. I have since fought him twice, and I ought to know something about him. When I say Munroe might as well try to pick up a customs house and carry it away on his back, as to try to whip Jeffries, it is a well founded conviction."

TRACK ATHLETICS.

SANTA PAULA HAS HOPES.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

VENTURA, March 20.—It has been finally decided that the interscholastic field day for this part of the State, and in which a number of high school teams will take part, will be held in Ventura April 30. It was feared for a time that the Ventura track could not be secured because of its having been partially plowed up and seeded, but this difficulty will be overcome. Everything will be in readiness for the meet here on the date set. The high schools which will participate and send teams are as follows: Santa Paula, Santa Barbara, Citrus, Anaheim, San Luis Obispo, Monrovia, Pasadena, Los Angeles and Ventura.

Ventura has a pretty strong team for the various events, but Santa Paula, by its fine showing at Pomona, has succeeded in scaring everything along the line. It is reported from that place that the Santa Paulans are going to descend on this town on field day with the express intention of winning everything in sight. Santa Paula has organized a brass band for the occasion, and with it will send a special train and 500 rooters to Ventura. Santa Paula is making a special boast of its pole vaulter, Richardson, a long-legged fence-jumper from the oil regions, who is said to have done eleven feet in pole vaulting. Then there is Munger, who can do six feet in high jumping, and Taylor, who will surely carry off all the sprinting trophies offered.

The field day promises to be a most successful affair, and large crowds will come from various points.

Business-like Military Methods.

This is a picture of a battalion leaving Tokio in the Chinese War at the railway station: Suddenly the public are instructed to wait a little and the turnstiles are locked. At last the great iron gates at the end of the platform are opened and the head of the battalion appears. It marches straight on till the leading company arrives at the front carriage.

The battalion is halted, turns toward the train; in a moment the train is packed as full as it can hold. The guard whistles, the train moves off. There are no friends on the platform—no women—no band playing "The Girl I Left Behind Me." "All is quiet, all is great;" everything betokens order and quiet determination. Now the train has gone, the great gates are shut, the turnstiles are opened, the next ordinary passenger train is ready to depart "on time." This is as far as I can remember the exact description of a Japanese battalion leaving for the front in the Chinese War. Who can resist such a nation as this?—[London Telegraph.

FRASER WAS EASY MARK.

Played His Winnings Into the Books Again.

May Escape Prosecution for Alleged Embezzlement.

Depends on Recovery of the Watches and Diamond.

Whether William L. Fraser, who was arrested Saturday on a warrant charging him with felony embezzlement, can be successfully prosecuted, will depend upon his ability to restore to Edward Sass, his partner in the proprietorship of the New York Kitchen restaurant, the two gold watches and the diamond ring which he is alleged to have embezzled.

The loss of these articles was not the serious feature for Sass, as it is charged that during his absence from the city Fraser dropped more than $5000 of the firm's money at the race track. Though Fraser may be morally responsible for this money, it cannot be made the basis of a criminal prosecution against him, as the money was partnership property. Civil action against him would be profitless, because he is said to possess nothing except a quantity of gaudy wearing apparel which would be subject to judgment.

Fraser is still in jail and will probably remain there until the criminal charge against him is disposed of. Efforts are being made to settle for the loss of the watches and diamond or to account for their disappearance in a way which would relieve Fraser of responsibility, and if these efforts succeed, the accused is likely to be set at liberty.

Fraser's downfall was not a surprise to the bookmakers and other attachés of the race track. He was considered an "easy mark" by the gamblers there, and, although he has made some big winnings, he invariably played them back into the books, and then used more of the money of his firm.

Another phase of the case which the officers are investigating is the charge, as yet unproven, that Fraser uttered a number of checks at a time when he must have known that there were no funds to his credit in bank. If it is found that he did this fraudulently, that may be made the basis of criminal proceedings against him.

IN ST. PETERSBURG.

Its Language, the Ways of its People and the Picturesque Army Maneuvers.

[New York Sun.] When the stage of the world's theater is given up to a drama like the present war in the Far East, any news that throws light upon the actors is welcome. These extracts from a letter sent from St. Petersburg present an interesting account of the character of the Russian people and the life of foreigners in their capital.

"I have been rather toying with Russian up to the present time. Russian is such a baffling language. It seems as though all one's language principles were being felled at one blow when you learn that there is a tongue in which a combination of consonants unaided by vowels may form a word.

"Then the alphabet! On being told that it was taken from the Greek alphabet, one expects to find about twenty familiar characters at least in the thirty-six which make up this atrocity. Not so. The men who achieved the adaptation weren't quite so good Greek scholars as one might desire, and made many mistakes—for example, the Greek "eta" serves as N, "Theta" as F. Then the written characters bear almost no reltaion to the printed ones. As to verbs, there are moods, tenses and aspects. I know very little about verbs as yet.

"There is an Englishwoman here who has been married to a Russian for ten or twelve years. He speaks no English and she uses no form of the Russian verb but the infinitive. Such are the trials of an international marriage.

"An almost ceaseless round of pleasures have been ours since our arrival here. First thing, aside from many courtesies extended by members of the English-speaking colony, we were invited to dine in a Russian home to meet Count Rustopschini, private secretary to the Empress, and descendant of a notable figure in the Napoleonic war. That evening was somewhat of an ordeal for me, as some of the Russians spoke only their native tongue. I could see that I was an object of pity for being able to converse in two languages only.

"Immediately upon that followed the grand annual parade, when 40,000 troops are mobilized on the field of Mars. It was the most magnificent spectacle I ever witnessed.

"The cavalry regiments all have their horses to match—the Royal Horse Guards on browns, the yellow cuirassiers on bays, hussars on grays, all the Cossacks on Arabs, while the other troops are mounted on the largest steeds obtainable.

"Members of the Royal Horse Guards are elected for their size and good looks—men in the Pavlovsky Regiment must all have snub noses, as did their illustrious founder, Paul of evil fame. The costumes are most picturesque, and, incidentally, expensive, that of a lieutenant of Hussars costing $3000.

"Through a friend, we were invited to witness this spectacle from the house of Prince Saltigov, that being one of two houses that commanded the field. We had a far better view than those in the stands, and the advantage of seeing the imperial cortege pass three times.

"The cavalry charge, with which the maneuvers ended, was terribly impressive. The sight of 20,000 men and horses plunging across that field straight at the Emperor is one never to be forgotten. It is no play, for there are always men injured in the charge and often some are killed.

"Then we had a delightful trip down the Volga. Of course, Moscow came in for a chief share of our attention.

"The river trip on the Volga was beautiful, with picturesque—and filthy types on every hand. I had thought that St. Petersburg achieved the climax of dirt and evil colors, but ever since our return it has seemed most immaculate by contrast with what we saw during that journey."

They Never Drink Water.

There are hundreds of horses and thousands of cattle in the Hawaiian Islands which never take a drink of water throughout the whole course of their lives. On all the islands the upper altitudes of the mountains are given up to cattle ranges. Except possibly two or three months in the rainy season there are no streams or pools of water in any part where the cattle roam, but everywhere there grows a recumbent, jointed grass known by the native name of "maninia." This is both food and drink.—[Lahore (India) Tribune.

CLEVER "LOKI."

Marvelous Horse at the Orpheum and the Patience Required in His Education.

Do you know "Loki" and his shapely mistress, "Nirvana?"

If you've been at the Orpheum lately you must have seen the pair—the beautiful white horse, standing still as a sculptured steed on a pedestal, and the woman in her garb of ancient and modern paintings.

The wonderful postures and deathlike stillness that this brainy white horse holds in the tableaux presentations has called forth many queries as to the manner in which a dumb animal is taught to do these things.

"Nirvana" carries a professional horse trainer with her, and he alone is capable of answering that question. He came with her all the way from Berlin, where the idea of the pictures was conceived, and it is his mastery of the horse which has led to such results.

In the first place, the trainer spent several months in the selection of a horse. Many different animals were tried before one was found which it was believed could be trained to the required limit.

It is thought by the trainer and Fraulein, his mistress, that "Loki" knows what he is in the picture for—that he understands that he posing for the entertainment of an audience. Yet it was long after the tuition was begun that "Loki" first got any true idea at all. All his instincts and all the traditions of his lifetime had to be overcome. Instead of remaining perfectly still, he wanted to act. He seemed to imagine that he was there to perform equine feats. His notion was that to earn his feed he must jump and rear and switch his tail, and turn look around at the audience for approval.

Patiently, day after day, the trainer worked untiringly, and at last the horse gave evidences that he wanted to do just what was required of him. Then "Nirvana" came in, and the graduated "Loki" was taken to a theater and placed upon a stage.

Fraulein advances a peculiar theory to account for "Loki's" perfections. She asserts that the animal loves her, and that on account of this affection he does these things, thinking to please her. There may be something in this, for she is very kind and indulgent to her equine pet.

She insists that there is no other horse in the world who could be taught satisfactorily these "thinking parts."

EVERY MAN A HYPNOTIST.

DR. PRICE WOULD HAVE ALL LEARN MYSTERIES.

Lectures Under Auspices of the Psychological Research Society on "Fraudulent Hypnotism"—Many Interesting Experiments Shown in Mental Telepathy.

Dr. W. R. Price, announced as "orator, author, scientist and philosopher," is either a very clever faker, with a consummately trained corps of assistants, or he is a remarkable manipulator of psychological phenomena.

This was demonstrated last night at a public meeting under the auspices of the Psychological Research Society of Los Angeles, a branch of the national society of similar name. The meeting was held in Cumnock Hall, No. 1500 South Figueroa street, and was well attended.

The theme of Dr. Price's address was announced as "Fraudulent Hypnotism and Hypnotists Exposed." The speaker opened the session with a period of silent prayer, followed by an invocation to the Almighty to open to the minds of the people assembled the paths of truth.

"God is truth," said Dr. Price, "and if we are gathered together to seek the truth we have God with us. Truth is unchangeable and immutable, and all power, and wisdom, and love and truth are of God.

"Religion should always be scientific and science should always be deeply and profoundly religious—for both contain the truth. But today there is a great unrest in both ranks, which is a hopeful sign, for when men and women begin to feel restless and restrained they begin to think for themselves. There are so many creeds and theories of religion and science that we know not which way to turn.

"Get the good out of everything and hold it, and get rid of all things that bring men into condemnation with their consciences. Prove all things; hold fast that which is good, is my platform. I stand as a peace maker between science and religion, and in this relation I teach the righteous use of natural laws. This is my mission.

"This brings up the subject of hypnotism, which is really a misnomer applied to a law of God's unbounded love. This has been made to apply incorrectly to certain psychological condition, but in reality hypnotism is simply the inducing of sleep, the suspension of the activities of the mind, and is often basely perverted in its uses.

"There is failure to discern between the righteousness of a good thing and the unrighteous use of the same thing. God's great and immutable law is being brought into disrepute by man's perverting it.

The speaker then set forth the idea that the immortal man is the organism that lives in the soul, as the mortal mind lives in the physical body, and as a believer in the unseen world one must accept a universal omnipresent spirit that never changes.

Hypnotism, said the speaker, robs one of the last vestige of mortal consciousness. While the psychological condition allows one to retain his activity of mind, it places him in a state where he can receive the aid and suggestions of others for his physical and mental advancement.

Dr. Price invited people from the audience to take seats on the platform to test his experiments, and more than a score of men and women responded. There were numerous interesting experiments in psychological phenomena, mental telepathy, "psychologic suggestion," and the real hypnotism in which the patient lost consciousness completely.

Dr. Price's idea is that it is possible for every person to become familiar with this mysterious force, and so learn its control as to raise himself above much sorrow and suffering from ills of life which they might overcome.

Few People Know How Useful it is in Preserving Health and Beauty.

Nearly everybody knows that charcoal is the safest and most efficient disinfectant and purifier in nature, but few realize its value when taken into the human system for the same cleansing purpose.

Charcoal is a remedy that the more you take of it the better it is; it is not a drug at all, but simply absorbs the gases and impurities always present in the stomach and intestines and carries them out of the system.

Charcoal sweetens the breath after smoking, drinking, or after eating onions, and other odorous vegetables.

Charcoal effectually clears and improves the complexion; it whitens the teeth and further acts as a natural and eminently safe cathartic.

It absorbs the injurious gases which collect in the stomach and bowels; it disinfects the mouth and throat from the poison of catarrh.

All druggists sell charcoal in one form or another; but probably the best charcoal and the most for the money is in Stuart's Absorbent Lozenges; they are composed of the finest powdered willow charcoal, and other harmless antiseptics in tablet form, or rather in the form of large, pleasant-tasting lozenges, the charcoal being mixed with honey.

The daily use of these lozenges will soon tell in a much improved condition of the general health, better complexion, sweeter breath and purer blood, and the beauty of it is that no possible harm can result from their continued use, but on the contrary, great benefit.

A Buffalo physician, in speaking of the benefits of charcoal, says: "I advise Stuart's Absorbent Lozenges to all patients suffering from gas in the stomach and bowels, and to clear the complexion and purify the breath, mouth and throat; I also believe the liver is greatly benefited by the daily use of them; they cost but twenty-five cents a box at drug stores, and though in some sense a patent preparation, yet I believe I get more and better charcoal in Stuart's Absorbent Lozenges than in any of the ordinary charcoal tablets."

"ALL HAIL."

Francis Murphy Used These Words Last Night as a Text for Temperance Sermon.

Francis Murphy spoke at Blanchard Hall last night on the text "All Hail." The speaker dwelt on Christ's loving regard for His disciples, to whom He appealed immediately upon His resurrection to qualify themselves to go into all the world and preach His gospel of peace, brotherhood and good-will.

A special appeal was made to young men to be considerate and loving toward their parents. To fulfill this duty, Mr. Murphy said, they must not touch the intoxicating cup, for it would rob them of respect toward their parents, and be a constant stumbling block in their daily lives. The success that all desire, he declared, is made sure by leading a pure and innocent life, loving negihbor, God and country.

The usual amount of pleasing music was rendered, and a number of men signed the blue-ribbon pledge.

NEEL-BORCHARD DAMAGE SUIT.

TESTIMONY IN CAUSE CELEBRE PRACTICALLY ALL IN.

Issues of Far-reaching Interest to Ranchers Involved in Outcome of the Litigation—Drainage of Rich Peat Lands—New Trial of Blind Pig Case to be Had.

SANTA ANA, March 20.—Practically the last of the testimony was heard in the Superior Court yesterday afternoon in the case of W. T. Neel vs. Caspar Borchard, in which the plaintaff is seeking $2100 damages and costs for injury alleged to be done his property at Talbert by a drainage ditch maintained by Borchard. He also wants a permanent injunction issued restraining the defendant from further u of the canal. In the testimony thus far adduced all the ranchers of the Talbert district, where the ditch is located, have sworn that the ditch is a direct benefit to Neel's land, while Neel himself and a hired man declare that it works them injury. The tag ends of the testimony and arguments will be heard commencing April 14, to which date the case was continued at the adjournment of court last night.

The fight between Neel and his neighbors is one of vast practical moment to all ranchers in the lowlands of the county, and for that reason has attracted wider attention than any other recent case in the courts. It raises at once the right of a group of ranchers to maintain irrigation ditches past property, the owners of which object to the canals, and if Neel should prove his contention, it will mean the prevention of constructing any of the large ditches now contemplated in the western part of the county. Neel's ranch is in the willows or Newlands district, where eight years ago land worth today as high as $300 an acre, could be bought at from $12.50 to $15 per acre.

The transformation has been worked by the enterprise of a group of the settlers of the country who have changed what was formerly tule and willow swamps overflowed with spring and river water into an extremely productive acreage, where banner crops of corn, beets and celery are grown. Already five parallel ditches fifteen feet wide and averaging three miles in length, have been built, along section and half-section lines, in accordance with the right-af-way reservations in the original deeds from the Stearns Rancho Company, and now the entire list of property owners, with the exception of Neel, are formulating plans for the incorporation of a Talbert drainage district under the drainage act of the last Legislature, thus providing for the better maintenance and extension of the ditch system. The work thus far has been done by the cooperative efforts of the ranchers themselves, who own a $1500 ditch digger, operated by thirty-six horses, which is expressly made for their needs.

Neel, the plaintiff in the suit now under way, is regarded by his neighbors as an obstructionist standing in the way of his own best interests. On the other hand, Neel contends that the canals as at present operated allow the water to percolate his land and do damage to crops, while in years of overflow, they would tend to divert the waters of the Santa Ana River and work widespread devastation.

The only other place in the county where drainage has been successfully introduced is at Bolsa, where a district under the act of 1897 was incorporated in 1898. Here narow ditches have been dug all through the heavy peat deposits and tile drains put in to carry off rain and spring water. The system is an admirable success.

On account of the weighty issues involved in Neel's suit, there is an array of legal talent on both sides. The plaintiff is represented by Dist.-Atty. H. L. Poplin of Ventura county, Judges Montgomer yand Ballard of this city, and Judge Thompson of Ventura, while Borchard's interests are cared for by Judge B. T. Williams, for the past eighteen years Superior Judge of Ventura county, and R. L. Williams, former District Attorney of this county.

NEW TRIAL FOR FRANKE.

City Attorney Heathman is making preparations for a new hearing for Fred Franke, whose trial for violating the prohibition ordinance resulted Friday in a hung jury, nine standing for conviction and three for acquitttal. The three jurors voting for acquittal are said to have stated that they could not satisfy themselves that Franke actually delivered the beer as charged in the complaint, because, although he had the goods loaded from his wagon onto an elevator, no one was there to receive them, and consequently the act was not technically a delivery of beer.

The City Attorney affirms that in his opinion intoxicants are being sold in quantities to any one who has the price, at drug stores as well as in more secluded "blind pigs," and that in the present condition of the ordinance the booze retailers cannot be touched. He advocates the adoption of a city dispensary which shall have full control of the sale of intoxicants under provisions of law, thus taking away from the drug stores all right to handle liquor for any purpose.

NEWS CULLINGS.

Slightly more than a quarter of an inch of rain fell last night, developing from a heavy mist. Clouds prevail tonight and give promise of a further downpour.

Sufficient interest has been awakened in the city charter project to warrant the calling of a general citizens' mass meeting for the evening of Wednesday, March 30, to discuss the question in public debate. The gathering will be held at Spurgeon's Hall.

The Gardner Pipe Works of Orange is preparing to locate a manufacturing plant and offices on East Fourth street in this city. Cement pipe and building stone will be manufactured.

FULLERTON.

HOW TO PICK ORANGES.

FULLERTON, March 20.—The Placentia Orange Growers' Association has issued a circular letter to its growers which says the company has expended a considerable sum of money to place the house and machinery in a condition that no harm can possibly happen to the fruit during the packing, but states that unless some precautions are used in picking and delivering the fruit, this expenditure is of no value. The latter states that the members of the association are not growing oranges for the glory, but for what they can make out of the business, and if the fruit arrives in the East showing decay, that members of the association do not only lose the value of the decayed fruit, but also additional money for each box. The letter further states that no contract picking will be allowed, and if members insist on having fruit picked by the box, the association will ship it on the grower's account. Growers are urged to "clip the stems short, but not to cut the rind. Long stems punch holes in the other oranges and decay follows. Do not pull oranges. It breaks the cells even when it does not leave a hole. Use long ladders. Ladders should reach the top of the trees." The letter also says picking sacks should not hold over half a box, and should be emptied carefully, and that it is cheaper for growers to bend their backs than to bruise the fruit. It also advises against picking wet fruit, as it rots much quicker than picked when dry.

RIVERSIDE.

ORANGE MEN DISCOURAGED.

RIVERSIDE, March 20.—Just now there is considerable talk over the demoralized condition of the orange market. No question is of more vital interest to this, the largest orange-growing section in the United States. Here there are upwards of 20,000 acres in orange groves. Last year this output was over 4700 cars, while this season it is expected to reach 5500 cars. Although the season is far advanced, yet less than half of the crop has been gathered. Thus far the growers have hardly realized enough from the fruit to pay the expenses. Some of the growers are inclined to blame the California Citrus Union for much of the trouble. The shippers are trying to shift the responsibility to the railroad companies. They argue that the transportation rates are altogether out of proportion. For instance, it now costs $1.25 per 100 pounds to get the fruit marketed, whereas a rate of 90 cents is given on vegetables. The scarcity of cars, they allege, has played havoc with the business. When the market back East was good, sufficient rolling stock could not be had. When cars can be had it takes too long to get the fruit to market.

LOCALETTES.

One of Riverside's biggest water companies is the Gage canal system. This has an immense cement flume, which was built at an enormous expense and which is said to be one of the most perfect systems for irrigation purposes extant. It is twenty miles long, reaching from the water-bearing lands in San Bernardino Valley to this city, and there are many miles of laterals, in addition. This big plant is owned by a syndicate of wealthy Englishmen, who find it an excellent source of revenue. Just now the system is being thoroughly overhauled and is being got in readiness for the spring irrigation campaign.

Randall & Merriman, the Redlands merchants who recently purchased the F. W. Enderly & Co. dry goods store here, are preparing to close out the business and move the stock over to Redlands.

Margaret Coleman has petitioned for letters of administration on the estate of A. W. Coleman, deceased. The property involved is valued at $41,000.

Much stir has been raised among the ministers of this city by the production today at one of the local theaters of the "Passion Play." The opening of the playhouse on Sunday is severely condemned. In yesterday's local papers one of the leading pastors of the city came out in a signed article, advising all church members to stay away from today's theatrical performance.

Word has just been received of the sudden death of Royal D. Hendricks, at Santa Rosa. He was formerly a resident of this place and was a prominent Maccabee.

CORONA.

SALOONS AN ISSUE.

CORONA, March 19.—At the coming city election the voters will be given an opportunity to express themselves on the saloon question. The anti-saloon people have selected as their candidates for trustees W. G. McVicar and G. S. Thacker, who appear on the independent ticket. Frank Perkins, Dr. M. B. Huff and C. M. Scoville are also on the independent ticket for trustees.

TALKED ABOUT INDIANS.

The Woman's Improvement Club met Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Juliet Powell Rice. Mrs. M. F. Patterson and Mrs. Rice were the leaders. The topics discussed were: "Present Location of Indians in California; Indian Legends and Folk-lore; Indian Music and Song."

LOCALETTES.

Fourteen members of Crown Chapter, O.E.S., went to Riverside Thursday night to meet the Worthy Grand Matron and Worthy Grand Patron of the State.

Carl Kendall left Thursday for Clay Center, Kan.

Dr. Irving Ludlow of Cleveland, O., is a guest of his cousin, Mrs. M. F. Patterson.

James J. Toy of Denver, Colo., visited Mrs. A. A. Brubacher this week.

BOOZE SELLERS UP AGAINST IT.

VENTURA TRUSTEES AFTER THE SALOON-KEEPERS.

Licenses Must be Renewed Every Three Months and Closing Hour be Strictly Observed—License Rate May be Raised—Abundant Rain Insures Good Crops.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

VENTURA, March 20.—The Board of Town Trustees has begun in earnest an investigation of saloon affairs and to that end has notified all the saloon keepers in town to appear before the Board at a special meeting to be held Friday evening next, to make application for license. Under the town ordinance it is incumbent upon the saloon men to renew their application for licenses each quarter. For a long time under former boards this feature was ignored entirely—so long, indeed, that it was really forgotten that the ordinance contained such a clause. The new Board will see that the ordinance is obeyed in this respect and in all others in the future. Besides there may be some radical changes looking to a higher license. The license at present is $400 per year, while in other places in the county the charge for a license is $600 per year, and up to the time the county passed the prohibition ordinance the county license was $600 per year. There is talk among the Trustees of making the license at least $600, while some of them lean strongly toward a much higher license—so high that some of the seventeen saloons in town will cease to exist. A majority of the Trustees also are opposed to the money slot machine, and may so shape the license as to do away with the gaming devices.

It is stated also that because of disobedience of the 11 o'clock clause of the ordinance, several saloon keepers may be deprived of their licenses. Under the ordinance it is illegal to keep a saloon open after 11 p.m. The night watchman has reported several violations of the law in this respect and there will be a shaking up along the line because of this when the Board meets.

MORE MOISTURE.

The equinoctial storm has reached this section, arriving yesterday in a sharp southwest gale which brought a fine rain with it. The rain began falling early in the evening and continued until nearly midnight. The fall for the storm was .26 of an inch, making a total of 7.04 inches for the season. This amount is not up to that of last season at this time, but it is worth as much, as it has all fallen this spring and has been of the warm kind and without cold winds to dry it up. It about assures crops for the coming season. It is still stormy here and more rain is looked for before there is clearing weather.

CUMMINGS IN JAIL.

The Sheriff has landed William Cummings in jail here with a charge of forgery against him. Cummings was captured in Los Angeles. He is accused of having cashed a check for $35 to which he had forged the name of "Billy" Roche, the sporting man who is manager for Sam McVey, the colored heavyweight. Cummings, who hails from Oxnard, skipped out immediately on procuring the money on the check.

VENTURA BRIEFS.

The steamer Coos Bay landed at the wharf here yesterday from San Francisco nearly two days late because of high winds. She brought down fifty-seven tons of freight for Ventura merchants.

The Fleur de Lis Club met last evening with Miss Florence Charlebois. Two new members were initiated, they being Miss Rosemary Herd and Miss Helen Donlon.

The Santa Paula Water Company is putting in a mile of flume from Santa Paula Creek to the old Peralto ranch in Santa Paula Cañon and has closed a contract with W. P. Weber to put out sixty-five acres of walnuts on that place.

W. M. Ramsey has contracted for a pumping plant to use on his ranch, capable of lifting 100 miners' inches of water and throwing it 200 feet. He will use a 50-horse-power gasoline engine.

OXNARD.

NOW A MAIN-LINE TOWN.

OXNARD, March 20.—Oxnard is now on the main line of the Southern Pacific, the Chatsworth division being opened for general traffic today. Trains No. 10 and No. 22 depart for Los Angeles at 8:28 a.m. and 8:10 p.m., respectively, and trains No. 21 and No. 9 depart for San Francisco at 10:18 a.m. and 4:07 p.m., respectively. All trains today were met at the station by a brass band and miniature sacks of sugar, the product of the mill here, and pamphlets descriptive of local industries, were distributed among the passengers.

GINSENG FARM.

About a mile and a half from town, opposite the Tom Bell place, the ginseng seed brought from Korea by Mr. McKlosky for the Maulhardt brothers, has been planted. A frame structure about ten feet high, covering two acres and a half of ground, has been erected and the sides and top covered with laths placed an inch apart. Under this, in beds carefully prepared and separated from each other by narrow paths, the sprouts of the ginseng seeds are being anxiously awaited. The seeds are worth about $2.50 apiece so the immensity of the enterprise may be understood. So far as known it is the only ginseng farm on the Pacific Coast and the experiment is attracting much attention. A pumping plant has been installed on the ranch and a well put down.

NEWS BRIEFS.

The Ladies' Euchre Club was entertained Friday afternoon by Mmes. T. A. Rice and J. L. Scarlett, at the home of the former. The prizes were won by Miss Violet Luedeke and Mrs. Benjamin Oxnard Sprague.

The Baptist Church was dedicated last Sunday and the new pastor, Rev. S. A. Douglass, regularly installed.

SURPRISE TO MANY

It may be a surprise to many that of all foods, meat is among those least nutritious. A carton of contains more nutriment, more strength, more vitality than a pound of meat and will sustain life as long as two pounds of meat. The energy is not wasted in eating Dr. Price's Wheat Flake Celery Food, the system is not loaded with unnecessary waste matter to poison the blood. Served hot or cold.

THOROUGHLY RELIABLE

NOT GUESS WORK

During 20 Years

My methods of treatment have been acquired and are built upon merit. They are not in common use, and are the most effective known.

With My Treatment You May Know What You Can Depend Upon.

FUNCTIONAL WEAKNESS

In many cases is made chronic by the unreasonable treatment employed. An attempt to force nature by harsh methods is the direct cause of failure.

Twenty years' experience enables me to treat and cure these conditions with marked success. My treatment is the most reasonable, rational and effective, and you will note improvement from the first.

VARICOCELE

Induces functional weakness. I demonstrate daily that varicocele can be cured without cutting, tying, or any severe form of treatment. The organs should not be maimed or weakened by surgery, but should be strengthened and preserved. With my treatment I cure in four to six days. A healthy circulation is re-established, and all evil effects removed.

CONTRACTED DISEASES, STRICTURE

I accomplish more because I do more for the exact cause. I cure these conditions quickly, free from pain and inconvenience. When neglected these troubles are progressive, some involving the whole reproductive system, inducing many complications, which are difficult to eradicate. Certainty of a cure is what you want, and I wait for my fee until you are cured.

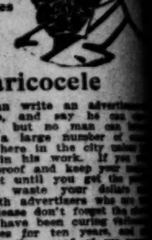
-MEN-

We are specialists for Varicocele Hydrocele Stricture Piles, Fistula Blood Diseases Contracted Diseases Private Diseases Loss of Vital Power Kidney and Bladder Troubles



Varicocele

Any man can write an advertisement and say he cures VARICOCELE, but no man can produce you to a large number of business men here in the city who is a success in his work. If you demand this proof and keep your money in your pocket until you get the proof you will not waste your dollars time on smooth advertisers who are specialists. Please don't forget the FACTS. We have been curing these troubles in Los Angeles for ten years, and are ready to show the proof of our statements through our cured patients. Is the offer sensible and fair proposition? We leave the rest to your Judgment.

Contracted Diseases

By this we mean specific blood poison, urethral inflammation, stricture, ulcers and swellings. We have waged war against neglect of treatment, unreliable methods for treating this serious disorder. Patent medicines, treatment by drug clerks and physicians, dangerous experiments, and cures under no circumstances be resorted to. The cheapest and best course is to go to an able specialist who has the skill and experience necessary to do the work exactly the right thing at the right time. You thus avoid dangerous complications, which might through neglect present become a lasting annoyance, oftentimes assuming a dangerous character. Every patient under our thoroughly cured before he is dismissed. All who come to us receive a frank statement. Consultation and advice free.

Weakness

Its Cause and Cure

Nearly every man suffering from so-called vital weakness has a cause for it, which is at the bottom of the trouble. The main causes are stricture, prostate gland enlarged, inflamed, prostatis, sexual exhaustion and excesses, badly treated kidney disorders, etc., which obstruct the vital nerve centers. When a man finds himself suffering from weakness we first remove the cause, just the same as an expert engineer or electrician first removes the cause when machinery fails to do its work. We have no difficulty in curing these cases.

Stricture

Pain is entirely eliminated under our treatment we have solely developed and perfected for the absolute cure of stricture, thus doing away with the use of knife, and leaves the urinary passage in a healthy condition, doing away with all irritation and congestion of the kidneys and bladder.

Our Journal can be had without charge, at the bottom of our stairway to the right. It contains much valuable information which cannot go in a newspaper. Help yourself to one, or write us and we will mail it.

Tells Them the Difference Between Religion and Creeds—Famous Dressmaker Colgate Drops Alleged Champion Pool-Player—King Has Cold Feet.

PASADENA, Office of The Times, 24 North Raymond Avenue, March 20.—The law may be expressed in the Ten Commandments—reverence for God, giving some time for spiritual things, respecting the rights of others. In these few words Rev. Dr. Lyman Abbott summed the Christian duty of all people and all churches when he spoke at the First Congregational church Sunday morning.

For so many people were turned away for want admittance to hear the distinguished divine, and the same was true in the evening at the First Presbyterian church. All rules governing the meeting of people in a public building were ignored by the people in their eagerness to hear Dr. Abbott at the evening service. Disappointed ones at the Methodist church and others fortunate enough to get seats last evening camped on the church steps long before the doors were opened. Men and women filled the aisles and vestibules until it was impossible to enter the church and exit from it.

In opening service Dr. Abbott announced as a text. He began his discourse by saying there are two questions that at some time or other present themselves to a man himself by every thinking person. "What shall God require of me?" and "What will God do for me?" The first is a question I shall not attempt to answer, but I shall attempt to show what the Bible says God requires of us. As given in the ten commandments we are to reverence God, honor our parents, keep holy the Sabbath, and do no violence to the rights of our neighbors. God said to the children of Israel, do this and you shall live. To people, a nation of people, he declared that theology is important, but what some men have called religion. Religion, he said, is the life of God in the soul of man. Theology is what someone has said about flowers. Astronomy is not what has been thought about the flowers, theology is not theology, flowers are not astronomy, stars are not astronomy, are greater than botany, greater than astronomy, religion greater than theology.

"I was a boy of 15 in New England and used to go to the meetings of the elders and wonder when I would be old enough to be a Christian. I thought that to be of a certain age was to be a stage driver, and I thought I would be old enough to be a Christian. What would you say to the mother who told her child, when it was old enough to understand the relation of a child to its parent, 'Do you love you?' God does not ask that we understand theology before we can be a child of His. Many people are out of the church because they do not understand our theology. Our theology is not for the purpose of religion is. Practice religion. Theology will care for itself. Man-made, 'anyway'—" This statement evoked a ripple of laughter from the congregation.

"Differences of temperament and not differences of religion make differences. There are some people who find God best where the birds sing. Some within the church and some without. A church membership is not a passport to heaven. The publican and the Quaker is the acceptable offering unto God from all sects. One would nestle close and give silent expression of love. The other would tell his mother about his father's neck and say, 'I love you.' One would be the other a Methodist. Belonging to a church is not being religious. Christianity existed before churches existed and will exist when all churches have passed away. Religion is the spirit of justice, reverence for God and good will to men. The brotherhood of men and women should think they can best do their thinking together, not because because they are members of the church. The church should be used as long as it is a help to people in their efforts to do right.

"It is necessary that you belong to a church to serve God—you can do right without a church. But you can not worship at home as well as a newspaper all day or in the Catalina. I am not a church for its hypocrisies and all its faults and if you will present a list of them I would indorse or as to the charges made against it by the critics. But tear down the church what would become of society, the State and the home? I would not want to live in a community not influenced by the church. Disregarding certain things, religion is a certain personality—Christ. The vital question is, What think ye of Christ?

"Christ preaches a poor sermon when he preach to himself and the best sermon than does his

"Language, rituals and creeds are human is always the same God in the soul of man. Religion as when God fed Religion is the same and prayer God was in the temple long ago."

VISITOR DIES.

Mrs. Morristown, Mass., a visitor, dropped dead from at the residence of Orange Grove avenue, as she did enter the house.

She came to Pasadena Decembered by her wife Mrs. Stone, and have lived Raymond. The deceased recently in perfect health is prostrated by the death of her husband. It is taken East tonight if condition will permit.

POOL SHOTS.

Will the professional pool men call the honor recent champion Kling of the Elks club, declares that champion of America King, of the Hotel Green pool "champion of wind," and Carney champion is not entitled to the name doubting if the champion can win the champion-

It comes out of an attempt time ago to arrange between Carney and Kling was playing pool in meeting, say-ing that neither Kling nor Carney had a right to claim the championship of America, nor to even play for it, as he himself held that plum. Thereupon Carney challenged King to a match. King said he was willing to post a forfeit of $500 and play for $2000.

But when preliminaries were started, Carney coming over to Pasadena, King said that his backer was at the theater. So Carney came over again and King offered the same excuse. He couldn't locate his backer. Another attempt to get the men together elicited the excuse from King that he was under contract with the Green and could no play a match game without violating the contract. He wouldn't play after the Green closes in May, either, because then his backer would not be here. All that is why Carney comes forth with a letter to H. E. Myers, declaring that King's lower extremities are in need of a hot-water bag.

DURAND CELEBRATES.

Calvin Durand of Chicago, who has been at Hotel Maryland for some time past, has two conspicuous days in his life calendar. One of them is a day of mourning, in memory of the time he became a prisoner of war, and the other one of feasting and good cheer, being the date he was set at liberty, nearly a year afterward.

Durand was a member of the Chicago Board of Trade Battery, enlisted in the Civil War and attached to Sherman's command in his march through Georgia. He was taken prisoner by a scouting party near Atlanta, was at Andersonville three months, at other prisons, notably Savannah, Charleston, Florence, and finally Libby, where, after spending two weeks, he was exchanged.

A few days ago Durand quietly celebrated his exchange, and some friends of his, caching onto it, had Dining-room Director Mann fix up a little surprise. When the ex-prisoner entered the dining-room he found his table done in flowers resembling a miniature fortress. There was a reproduction of Andersonville with a piece of artillery at each corner of the stockade. At each plate was a drum filled with cannister and grapeshot and a small American flag.

BRIEF MENTION.

The death of Ira A. Hill, aged 64 years, occurred yesterday at No. 44 South Euclid avenue, where he had resided four months. Deceased was a banker and a native of New Hampshire. Funeral arrangements await advices from the East.

Wadsworth sells paints.

SANTA MONICA.

NO INQUEST ON FLOATER.

SANTA MONICA, March 20.—No inquest was conducted today over the body of the man picked up yesterday on the sands of the beach of the Malibu ranch. The remains were so badly decomposed that identification was utterly impossible and the body was given interment at the expense of the county on a death certificate giving the cause of death as "drowning." The body was that of a man five feet four inches in height. The flesh from the face was entirely gone. He wore brown check trousers, a blue check shirt, two suits of underwear and no coat or vest. One shoe was missing.

SEASIDE BREEZES.

Santa Monica now has three papers, the Ocean Park Press having made its appearance today. Frank Peltret is editor and T. J. Murphy publisher. It is a six-column quarto.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Jones and Mrs. W. McCormick leave tomorrow for the Grand Cañon, where they will meet Miss Georgia Jones, who is en route home from New York. The party will be absent ten days.

OCEAN PARK REALTY SALES.

THIRD OF MILLION INVESTED IN LAST TEN DAYS.

A Hundred New Houses in Course of Construction or Just Completed. Lumber Piled on Vacant Lots Gives Evidence of More Building in the Near Future.

OCEAN PARK, March 20.—If the sales of seaside lots and cottages were taken into considertaion it is safe to conclude that at least a third of a million dollars' worth of property has changed hands here during the last ten days, and all at prices in advance of those heretofore received. None short of a hundred new houses are now in course of construction or have been completed within the last fortnight, and lumber is being piled here and there on vacant lots from one end of the beach to the other for new houses that are to be started within a few days.

SEWER QUESTION.

At the meeting of the City Council tomorrow night some action may be taken on the report to be made by Trustee T. W. Gibbon, who spent last week in investigating the Pasadena sewer farm. Ocean Park is confronted by a sewer proposition and an asceptic plant, a sewer farm, or permission to use the Santa Monica outfall sewer, must be considered and decided before the season opens.

Mrs. Wood of Pasadena, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kent have taken No. 15 Sunset for a few weeks.

CATALINA ISLAND.

SHEEP SHEARING IN PROGRESS.

AVALON, March 20.—Sheep shearing is in full swing at the west end of the island. This is the first opportunity the wool company has had to test the efficacy of the new wire fences with which the island has been girdled, and sectionized. But few of the sheep now escape the hands of the shearers, and the company will realize a large profit thereby. Notwithstanding the fact that little care has been taken of the sheep on the island, and but little new blood infused, some wonderful fleeces are found. One sheep which was sheared a few days ago yielded 26 pounds of wool, while many produce from 12 pounds upward.

ISLAND VISITORS.

The man who made Milwaukee famous, Fred Pabst, accompanied by his wife and Miss Uhlein, has been a guest at the Metropole for a few days.

Mrs. Hancock Banning has been entertaining a party of friends at the Metropole since last Friday. They are Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Johnson, Mrs. G. S. Patton, Miss Patton, Miss Graves, Miss Adelaide Brown, Howard Huntington and Mr. Steward.

Mrs. J. W. Crapsey and Miss Anna Bishop of Colorado Springs are at the Grand View for a short stay.

Judge Murray F. Tuley, one of the best known men of Chicago, accompanied by his wife and a party of ten, is a visitor to the island.

F. A. Hart of the Natick Hotel, and wife, came over today.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Marble of New York City are guests of Hon. John Jay Nestell at his cottage, Tio Juan.

Twenty-hundredths of an inch of rain fell on the island Saturday night.

SAN PEDRO.

BIG CARGO OF LUMBER.

SAN PEDRO, March 20.—The schooner Willis A. Holden, after a tempestuous voyage of twenty-eight days from Everett, Wash., poked her nose around Point Firmin this morning and came safely to anchor in the calm waters of the outer harbor. The Willis A. Holden was the boat chartered by the Pacific Coast Lumber Company to carry lumber to this port in competition with the yards here operated by the independent steamship owners which had made serious inroads in the passenger-carrying business of the Pacific Coast Steamship Company. The Pacific Coast Lumber Company announced with a flourish of trumpets through its advance agent, James E. Bell, that it would do sundry and divers things to the lumber business of Southern California, but the large yards which Mr. Bell said would be established did not materialize and it was announced that the fight was off. Upon reaching port today Capt. Harriman was seeking J. W. Buckley, one of the local representatives of the San Pedro Lumber Company, and it is expected that this company will handle the cargo.

The Holden brought a large cargo, 1,317,000 feet, and made an exceptionally long trip. Capt. Harriman says the voyage was the roughest in his experience, and that severe storms were encountered all the way. The cargo shifted during one of the severest storms and had it not been for a brief cessation, the entire deckload would have been lost. Upon reaching port Capt. Harriman remarked, "Yes, we had a long, rough trip, but we bring some lumber when we do arrive." The Holden will be towed inside tomorrow.

HOLLYWOOD.

NOTES AND PERSONALS.

HOLLYWOOD, March 20.—The Pass school district will hold an election April 11, and vote upon a proposition to issue $8000 worth of bonds to build a new school building in Colegrove.

Rev. L. P. Russell of Lawrence, Kan., will remain in Hollywood this week and preach in the Masonic Temple again next Sunday.

Rev. Wiley J. Phillips, editor of the California Voice, preached in the Memorial Church today.

Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Lyons will entertain the members of the Presbyterian and Congregational churches at their home on Highland Avenue next Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Churchill and Mrs. W. H. Code were entertained at the Holienbeck today as guests of Elwood Mead, United States irrigation expert.

Mrs. H. J. Whitley and daughter have returned from a few weeks' visit at Coronado.

DOWNEY.

SUNDAY-SCHOOL RALLY.

DOWNEY, March 20.—The Downey Sunday-school Association held its quarterly meeting in the Baptist Church Sunday evening. Rev. C. S. Tanner of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church spoke on the "Rise and Progress of the Sunday-School." Rev. J. I. Myers of the Christian Church gave a short address on the "Twentieth Century Sunday School." The "Normal Class, What it is?" was presented by Rev. A. J. Copass of the Baptist Church, and Rev. C. L. McCausland of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, spoke on "How to Get the Parents into the Sunday-school." Before the Sunday-school rally a Young People's' Union meeting was held.

NEWS NOTES.

Gene Cosgrove left Sunday for Colton, where he will take charge of his new jewelry store.

Mrs. Marcia McKinney of San Francisco is visiting with Mrs. A. P. Belsh.

About fifteen members of the local Eastern Star Lodge went to Whittier last Friday night. The Whittier Star entertained them with a banquet.

The Los Angeles Presbytery of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church will convene at this place on Wednesday. Sessions will be held in the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, as the repairs of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church are not finished.

SAN DIMAS.

JOHNSTONE FUNERAL.

SAN DIMAS, March 20.—The funeral of Mrs. James A. Johnstone took place this afternoon at the Methodist Episcopal Church. The casket reposed amid many handsome floral tributes sent by friends and relatives.

So dearly was Mrs. Johnstone beloved by the people of this community that the church was not large enough to hold the many friends who came to pay their last tribute of respect to her memory.

Francis L. Pratt of Pomona sang several choice selections—"Not a Sparrow Falleth" and "One Sweetly Solemn Thought." The pastor, the Rev. W. A. Brown, delivered a beautiful eulogy. At the close of the service Mr. Pratt sang "Servant of God, Well Done," during the rendition of which the audience was much affected. The bearers were the four sons of the deceased, Herbert W. Johnstone of Redlands, Assemblyman W. A. Johnstone, Ernest Johnstone, Havelock Johnstone of San Dimas and E. M. Wheeler and B. C. Benner.

The interment was in Evergreen Cemetery, Los Angeles, where Rev. E. H. Fretry, pastor of Haven Church, officiated.

CLAREMONT.

ROAD IMPROVEMENT.

CLAREMONT, March 20.—The people of Claremont and Upland are, from now on, to be spared the misery of the rocks and ruts of the county road connecting the towns. A large gang of men went to work yesterday with plows and scrapers, and soon the worst section of road in the valley is to become the best. The teams have begun at the Upland end of the road and are to work toward Claremont. Over $2000 has been raised by citizens and county combined, and this amount will put the road in first-class shape.

BEE BUSINESS.

W. S. Fletcher, the bee man, of Pasadena, has just shipped a carload of beehives to Claremont. Most of the 300 hives were hauled yesterday above Indian Hill, where an active bee farm will be started at once.

DEBATING CLUB.

The Pomona College Debating Club has just elected its officers for the new spring term. President, W. E. Eberle, '05; vice-prerident, C. V. Newman, '04; secretary and treasurer, Thomas Giffen, '06; judge, C. H. Parker, '05; assistant judge, George H. Hume, '04.

SEARCH FOR QUEEN CITY.

VICTORIA (B. C.) March 20.—The Dominion line steamer Quadra will leave tonight for the west coast of Vancouver Island, to search for the Canadian Pacific Navigation Company's steamer Queen City, three days overdue. The company fears that disaster has overtaken the Queen City in the gales that have been raging on that coast.

NEWS AND BUSINESS.

How Much.

According to the official figures of United States Weather Observer Franklin, .37 of an inch of rain fell here in the precipitation of Saturday night. This brings the season's total to 5.33 inches.

"The Silver Slipper."

The box office opens this morning at the Mason Theater for the coming engagement of the melodious extravaganza, "The Silver Slipper," by the authors of "Florodora." The company includes 156 people.

For Burdette's Lecture.

The reserved seat sale for Robert J. Burdette's lecture in the Y.M.C.A. Star Course opens in Bartlett's music store, Blanchard building, this morning at 9 o'clock. Mr. Burdette will give his celebrated lecture, "Good Medicine," Thursday evening in Simpson Auditorium.

Mills Lectures.

Rev. Benjamin Fay Mills spoke yesterday morning in Blanchard Hall and yesterday afternoon and evening in Unity Church on the subject, "The Riddle of the Universe." Features of the afternoon meeting were the vocal solos of Mrs. Wellborn and Miss Mary Mills, youngest daughter of the speaker. In the evening Mrs. Colby and W. Francis Gates were the soloists.

Whose Chain Is This?

The detectives have in their possession a fine gold chain of very close mesh-woven links and attached thereto are two gold dollars. They found S. J. Kent trying to dispose of it in a Main-street pawnshop and took him into custody. He stated that he had found it on the street and admitted that he had made no effort to find the owner.

Lost Watch and Papers.

During the temporary absence of Mrs. T. Love from her home, No. 118 South Hill street, Saturday night, burglars forced an entrance into the place and made a thorough search for valuables. They found no money, but secured a fine gold watch and a number of papers of great value to their owner, some of them being negotiable. Payment has been stopped at the banks.

Burglars Got Nothing.

Burglars forced an entrance into the office room at No. 107 South Broadway early yesterday morning, but if they stole anything the police found no evidence of it. The place is almost within speaking distance of the Police Station. A lever was placed against the door and the lock forced open. The thief was probably frightened away before he had an opportunity to make a thorough search of the place.

Through the Tunnel.

Train No. 21, the Southern Pacific's Coast line Limited, leaving Los Angeles at 8 a.m., yesterday, passed through the famous Chatsworth tunnel, northward bound; and thus was the new cut-off from Burbank to Montalvo opened to regular traffic. Train No. 9, the Sunset Limited, north bound, leaving here in the afternoon, took the new route, as did the Coast line Limited and the Sunset Limited south bound from San Francisco.

Hocknell May Recover.

George Hocknell, the capitalist who tried to kill himself at Ontario last Monday, may recover, from his injuries. Yesterday was the first day that his physicians have felt at all sanguine concerning the case, but now strong hopes for his recovery are entertained. Hocknell's strong determination to get well has proven a potent factor and his exhibition of will power is said by his physicians to be truly remarkable.

German Lutherans' New Church.

The new $7000 church building of the German Lutherans of St. Paul's parish, at the corner of Washington and Trinity streets, was dedicated yesterday with fitting ceremonies. The morning services were held in the German language, and the speakers were the pastor, Rev. O. Satzinger, and Rev. Mayer of Pomona. Last night the services were in English, and Rev. Herbert Weaver of the English Lutheran Church and Rev. Henry W. Crabbe of the Second Presbyterian Church gave addresses.

Stabbed the Barkeeper.

Frank Gallato, barkeeper at the saloon at the corner of Ord and Buena Vista streets, was stabbed in the left cheek early yesterday morning by B. Gonzalez. The latter had been trying to pick a fight, and at the request of the proprietor several men started to eject him. Gallato assisted in this effort, and as the party neared the door, Gonzalez turned and slashed him across the face with a knife, inflicting a wound in which it was necessary to take four stitches. Gonzalez escaped for a time, but was subsequently captured by Patrolmen Leon and Allen and locked up on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

Bit Off Jap's Ear.

Finding that his fists and feet were not sufficient to successfully defend himself from the attacks of F. Honti and H. Sakai, two Japanese, early yesterday morning, Wo Hoy, a Chinaman, resorted to the use of his teeth. The Japs had him down and he was being badly beaten when he began eating. Taking Honti's right ear between his teeth Hoy bit a piece of it off and was chewing on what remained when Patrolmen Murray and Roller interfered and arrested the three combatants. Hoy was charged with mayhem and the two Japanese with disturbing the peace.

Death Due to a Fall.

J. Douglas Gillelen died Saturday in the Pacific Hospital from the effect of injuries sustained by falling downstairs at his mother's home, No. 207 North Olive street, a week previously. Mr. Gillelen was a brother of Warren Gillelen, president of the Broadway Bank and Trust Company, and was engaged in the real estate business. He was a native of Pennsylvania, 45 years old, and was a resident of Los Angeles for sixteen years. He was unmarried and lived with his mother, Mrs. Rebecca J. Gillelen. The funeral will take place at 10 o'clock today at Booth & Boylson's parlors, No. 329 South Spring street. The body will be interred at Rosedale Cemetery.

Limit of Depravity.

As a result of statements made to the police by his wife, William Rawson was arrested yesterday afternoon and may be prosecuted on a felony charge. May Rawson was arrested Saturday night on a charge of soliciting on the streets. In the presence of a dozen officers she stated that her husband compelled her to enter a life of shame and had demanded that she bring him all her money on pain of a beating. She stated that he followed her on the streets, saw with whom she associated and then took her money. A general order was issued for the arrest of Rawson, and officers searched for him all night, but he went into hiding. He was found yesterday afternoon in the apartments of a massage bath-house proprietress with whom the police say he has been living.

Dr. Tyndall.

Blanchard Hall was thronged yesterday afternoon by those wishing to hear Dr. Alexander J. McIvor Tyndall's opinion on the subject of "Spiritualism." The lecturer explained the philosophy and the fundamental principles of the spiritistic hypothesis, and gave credit to the much-abused belief in spiritism for the present widespread interest in advanced thought. He discouraged the indiscriminate pursuit of mediums and the motives that actuate those who seek counsel from their "spirit friends," but stated as his conviction that the close of the present century will see established beyond the possibility of doubt, universal communication between the world of matter and the world of spirit. This he says is the inevitable and logical conclusion to which scientific research points.

Officer on Rampage.

Several policemen were sent to a saloon at Ninth and Main streets about midnight Saturday night in response to telephone messages stating that a man was standing up everybody who approached, and as he was heavily armed it was feared that he would shoot somebody. Patrolman Burgh found him in the saloon armed with a handsome 45-caliber Colt revolver with which he had been amusing himself by making dents in the bar. He was placed under arrest on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon. At the Police Station he gave the name of T. E. Ivey and stated that he was an officer, but refused to say what office he held. Yesterday it was learned that he is a deputy United States marshal on a spree. He was released yesterday morning, it being impossible to prosecute him for carrying a gun.

SAN DIEGO.

FREIGHTERS ARRIVED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN DIEGO, March 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The steamer Alaskan, which arrived today and began discharging, has 1800 tons of freight for various Southern California points. She is sixty-five days from New York and twenty-two days from Coronel, her last coaling place. A French bark, with cement for Edmund Baker, arrived off the harbor today, 130 days from Hamburg.

AN ARTIST'S DEATH.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN DIEGO, March 20.—George Merritt Clark of Buffalo, N. Y., a well-known member of the American Watercolor Society of New York, died at his California home, the Bohemian Bungalow, near Bostonia, in this county, early this morning.

THE TIMES IN SAN DIEGO.—Sold regularly by Harry Orcutt, authorized agent, at No. 1201 C street, and by J. C. Packard, No. 961 Fifth street; Loring & Co., No. 753 Fifth street; Gray's Book Exchange, No. 1026 F street; McKee, No. 1024 D street, and at the Hotel Robinson.

The following-named dealers refuse to sell The Times because they lack the courage to stand up against the small faction of local labor-unionists and their newspaper allies who have joined forces in boycotting The Times in San Diego, viz.: Snyder, No. 624 Fifth street; Avey & Jones, No. 909 Fifth street; Sam Tayler, No. 865 Fifth street, and Percival Wood, No. 1334 F street. The latter, especially, has shown double dealing, hypocrisy and cowardice by his course. Independent citizens who have a contempt for the boycotting know where to find The Times.

PERSONAL.

Frank Cox, Southern Pacific attorney in Phoenix, is a guest at the Hollenbeck.

W. M. Browning, a mining man from Cananea, Mex., is registered at the Nadeau.

Charles B. Hanford of Washington, D. C., the Shakespearean actor, arrived at the Angelus yesterday with his wife.

Elwood Mead, director of the irrigation inquiry bureau of the United States Department of Agriculture, and formerly State Engineer of Wyoming, is in this city. He is making an investigation in this State of the economic application of water to the soil for agriculture.

PRESSURE UPON PORTE.

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 20.—The Russian and Austrian embassies tonight renewed their pressure upon the Porte to accept unaltered the Austro-Russian scheme of reforms in Macedonia. The Russo-Austrian note pointed out that the counter proposals of the Porte, made March 17, which objected to the placing of foreign officers in command of the gendarmerie in Macedonia, did not wholly tally with Turkey's original acceptance of the reform scheme. The note warned the Porte of the grave consequences that would follow any further delay.

The Sultan received Baron Von Bierberstein, the German Ambassador, in private audience yesterday.

DEATH RECORD.

FRANKLIN—The funeral of Mrs. Joseph E. Franklin will be held from her late residence, No. 1252 West Twenty-second street, Tuesday, March 22, 1904, at 2 o'clock p.m. Friends and acquaintances invited. Interment Rosedale Cemetery.
